Dr. George Oakes Jaquith

He is founding and present President of the Jaquith Family Association, Inc., with nearly 500 members, also a member of many heritage and patriotic organizations: Sons of the American Revolution, Founders and Patriots of America, Order of Americans of Armorial Ancestry, Sons and Daughters of the Pilgrims, Flagon and Trencher, Old Plymouth Colony Descendants, Sons and Daughters of the First Settlers, Newbury, Mass., Descendants of Colonial Piscataqua Pioneers, Colonial Order of the Crown, Order of Washington, Plantagenet Society, Saginaw Genealogical Society, National Genealogical Society, New England Historic Genealogical Society, Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts, Ten of Us Club (Boston) and Military Order of World Wars. He is also a member of the Cuyamaca Club in San Diego, California's oldest chartered club, and the Nathan Smith Davis Club (Chicago).

Dr. Jaquith graduated from the College of Idaho with a B.A. (1938) and received his M.B. (1942) and M.D. (1943) from Northwestern University Medical School in Chicago. Following an internship at Wesley Memorial Hospital in Chicago, Dr. Jaquith spent four years in the Medical Corps of the United States Navy. He then did a residency in ophthalmology at the San Diego Naval Station until 1948. Since that time he has practiced ophthalmology continuously in Brawley, California. He is past president of the Medical Staff, Pioneers Memorial Hospital, past president of the Imperial County Medical Society, Delegate to the California Medical Association, Director of the California Ophthalmological Association, Director and member of South California Association for the Prevention of Blindness, was state treasurer California Ophthalmological Association, 1977 and Vice President of the California Medical Eye Care Foundation, Inc. He is a member of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Reserve Officers' Association, Phi Beta Pi, Lambda Chi Alpha, Elks Club, and the Presbyterian Church. He is listed in Who's Who in the West.

Georgetta May (Jaquith) Walker

She has had genealogy and heritage societies as her hobby since 1931. She is a charter member and officer of the Saginaw, Michigan, Genealogical Society. Her determination and dedication have contributed mightily to the accuracy and completeness of this book. She attended Michigan State College at Lansing, was graduated with a B.S. Degree from Central Michigan University, Mount Pleasant, has a Life Certificate from Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti, and also attended the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor. She was an elementary teacher at North Intermediate School, Saginaw, from 1925 until her retirement. In 1965 she received the National Congress of Parents and Teachers Distinguished Service Award in grateful recognition of notable leadership and significant services. She is a Founding Member of the Jaquith Family Association and is the Charter Secretary and Treasurer. Her eligibility as a descendant of John Putnam for the Order of Americans of Armorial Ancestry was verified by Arthur Adams and featured in Hobbies, The Magazine for Collectors, April 1953, by Hazel Kraft Eilers.

She is a member of the following national and state societies: Daughters of the American Revolution, United States Daughters of 1812, New England Women, Colonial Daughters of the Seventeenth Century (plus 50 supplementals), Daughters of Founders and Patriots of America, Americans of Armorial Ancestry, Piscataqua Pioneers, Vermont Society of Colonial Dames, Sons and Daughters of the Pilgrims, Old Plymouth Colony Descendants, Daughters of the American Colonists, Dames of the Court of Honor, First Settlers of Newbury, Mass., Daughters of Colonial Wars, Descendants of the Colonial Clergy, Jamestowne Society, Huguenot Society, Daughters of the Union (1861-1865), Magna Carta Dames, The Sovereign Colonial Society Americans of Royal Descent, Colonial Order of the Crown, Plantagenet Society, the Order of Washington, Flagon and Trencher, Women Descendants of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts, and Michigan Colonial Dames of the XVII Century.

FOREWORD

By Dr. George O. Jaquith

My part in collecting and assembling the saga of The Jaquith Family in America is affectionately dedicated to my late father:

GAIL BELMONT JAQUITH

He was powerfully effective in arousing my curiosity about the family, but the details he could supply were limited, and some could not be confirmed.

All this search has been fun and a real challenge, stimulating me to keep at it. In 1957 Mr. and Mrs. Witt of El Centro, California, who were my patients, asked if we were related to the Jaquiths of Jaffrey, New Hampshire. We felt it was improbable, but they brought the History of Jaffrey to us, and my wife, Pearl, typed off the many pages of genealogy, dating back to Abraham in 1643. This was mentioned to my uncle, Claire Jaquith of Phoenix, who produced a letter written by his great-grandfather, Abel Jaquith, to my grandfather, Marshall T. Jaquith, in 1882, in answer to his letter of inquiry about the family. Abel clearly documented from personal association the relationship to the Jaffrey Jaquiths, so at least a thin line of descent was established. The letter, now 100 years old, has been duplicated and distributed widely, and the original is in a safe place.

Abel's letter was written from Brier Hill, but it took a long time to find where Brier Hill was, if it still existed. Finally I found a Brier Hill, New York, and wrote the postmaster, Russell Spotswood, asking if he knew anything about Abel. He wrote back that looking out his window he could see the gravestones of Abel and his wife, Lucy Pratt, as well as those of many of their descendants. We made three trips to Brier Hill from our home in California to obtain further information, and found Brier Hill to be a village within the town of Morristown, on the St. Lawrence River. Mr. Spotswood is now dead but will not be forgotten.

In following up on some of Abel's descendants in Rodman, New York, we went through old cemeteries on or near Dry Hill. Some of the stones were flat on the ground. We would lift these up to see what names were on them. One stone we lifted had two black snakes under it, so we dropped it without satisfying our curiosity.

Abel's letter was so intriguing that a campaign was started to get as much information on the family as could be obtained. Letters were sent to all known relatives, and huge folders of correspondence began to fill up two large four-drawer file cabinets. Every lead was explored. It was fortunate these contacts were made then, as most of the informants are now gone. Ads were put in several genealogical publications, and memberships were taken out in the National Genealogical Society and later in the New England Historic Genealogical Society. The major libraries were visited again and again: the Newberry in Chicago, San Francisco City Library, Los Angeles City Library, the Library of Congress, the Massachusetts Archives, and the New England Historic Genealogical Society, to name the principal ones. Census records, professional directories, telephone directories, city directories, and reference books of all sorts were studied.

The family's vacations for many years have been spent searching in almost every state through cemeteries, libraries, families, etc., wherever a lead to gain information on the family could be found. Twelve trips have been made to Boston. Each trip has provided much additional information. At first, responses to letters sent to Jaquiths throughout the country were very slow; many letters received no answer. However, after a few years, information began arriving every day, making the dream become a reality.

Katharine C. Cox gave me "The Crane, Jaquith, Henderson and Cyr Families" by Jessie Palmer Williams, which appeared in the Quarterly of the National Genealogical Society, along with the original research papers of Peter Henderson Jaquith. Joseph S. Coulter, a genealogist of Washington, D.C., obtained copies of all the Civil War records of the Jaquith name. All the D.A.R. reference books were studied. Mrs. Hazel Plummer of West Lebanon, New Hampshire, was an enthusiastic searcher for all of New Hampshire, as well as much of Vermont and Maine. She copied records from libraries, town clerks, and cemeteries. Richard Jaquith Fowle of Thetford, Vermont, gave valuable advice, as he was an experienced genealogist, as well as being in charge of Social Security in northern New Hampshire. Nathan Hale of MOCA (Maine Old Cemetery Association) searched voluminous records for Jaquith families who lived in Maine in early times.

Since the highest concentration of Jaquiths was in Massachusetts, all known books having a Jaquith reference were purchased, and finally a complete set of vital records for each town in Massachusetts to 1850 was obtained from the Genealogical Book Company in Baltimore. All the Jaquith births, marriages, and deaths were extracted. A huge chart was developed, over sixteen feet long, with the names put on it in diagram form, including those from all sources. It became obvious that all Jaquiths had descended from Abraham Jaquith, first on record in 1643! There are advantages to having an uncommon name! A few Jaquiths are adopted, and all of these are documented, so there is no problem as far as eligibility for lineage societies.

Georgetta Jaquith Walker had been working on her own genealogy since 1931, so it was a stroke of fortune that we could pool our efforts and work toward a common goal. She has been a tireless worker and an uncomprising analyst of the relationships. She spent many weeks searching the old Boston and Massachusetts records for a complete listing of births, marriages, and deaths to the present time.

Many situations have arisen to add variety to the quest for information. One elderly lady volunteered the information she was a widow of a Jaquith when she was just nineteen, said her husband died in an accident. A trip to the county clerk's office revealed he was "shot through the heart by his wife!" Newspaper articles of the trial stated it was the most lurid murder trial in the history of that area. She was acquitted, however. An interesting note is that his son disappeared without a trace, exactly thirty years to the day on the anniversary of his father's death.

After talks with Wilbur and Lester Jaquith and Rebecca Jaquith Rupright, it was felt a Jaquith family association should be formed. A meeting of several Jaquiths was held at the Rupright home in Saugus, Massachusetts, as an organizational committee, in July 1971. Present were: Wilbur M. Jaquith, David F. Jaquith, Joseph J. Casey, Adford W. Jaquith, Donald F. Jaquith, Myron L. Jaquith, Richard Jaquith Fowle, Lester G. Jaquith, Virginia W. Jaquith, Doris Ann Jaquith, George Jaquith, Rebecca Jaquith Rupright, Guy M. Rupright, Charlotte I. Jaquith, Pearl Jaquith, Michele Jaquith, and Verne E. Rupright.

An invitational meeting was scheduled for 16 October 1971, at the Rupright home, with the following officers elected for a period of one year—President: George O. Jaquith, M.D.; First Vice President: Rebecca J. Rupright; Second Vice President: Richard Jaquith Fowle; Secretary and Treasurer: Georgetta J. Walker; Chaplain: Doris Ann Jaquith; Historian-genealogist-record keeper: Dr. George O. Jaquith. Six members were elected to the Board of Directors: Wilbur Jaquith, Chairman, Joseph Jaquith Casey, Ted Jaquith, Dana Jaquith, Madeline J. Edmonds, and Mark Jaquith.

As if a mascot were needed, Jeffrey Allen Line was born the evening the Association was formed, 16 October 1971, the son of Carlee and John Line, and grandchild of Guy and Rebecca Rupright. He has been present at most of the annual meetings since.

The Jaquith Family Association was later incorporated in California as a non-profit, tax-exempt organization, recognized by the Internal Revenue Service. This was done gratuitously by William N. Byrd, attorney-at-law in Brawley, California, as a courtesy to the Jaquiths, his long-time friends. The Jaquith Family Association, Inc., holds annual meetings, set for next to the last Saturday in July each year. These have been held in various homes and meeting places in the Boston area, with arrangements being made by different families, including the Ruprights, the Myron and Doris Jaquith families, Madeline and Walter Edmonds, Virginia and Wilbur Jaquith, and Joseph Jaquith Casey. The last two meetings have been in "Jay" Casey's commodious ancestral home in Billerica, built in 1665. Plans are being made for a "western branch" meeting, inspired by the very successful one organized by Barbara (Jaquith) Ferguson for descendants of Russell and Mabel Jaquith in 1982 in Orange, California.

In response to many inquiries we have the information from Rebecca Jaquith Rupright, who has traveled to Europe and Nova Scotia several times in search of it: Abraham Jaquith is believed to have landed in Boston 18 June 1643 with Huguenots from La Rochelle, France, who stopped at Cape Sable Island, Nova Scotia, where Charles de la Tour and Madame La Tour boarded their vessel. They proceeded to Boston where La Tour persuaded Governor Winthrop and his council that they could stay.

The book, The Jaquith Family in America, was written by Mrs. Georgetta Jaquith Walker and myself, in outline form. It has been completely re-formatted by Dr. Ralph Crandall, Mr. Edward Hanson, and Ms. Catherine Slichter, of the editorial staff of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, with the addition of much more material, and in the Register style. We are indebted to them and hope this unprecedented action will encourage other non-professional writers to seek their expert help.

FOREWORD

By Georgetta Jaquith Walker

Travel has always been my favorite hobby, and during the last ten years my hobby has been guided by Research. Our family grew up in Ohio and Michigan, so we never knew many Jaquiths. My father, Rivers Burdette Jaquith, knew some of his Uncle Sampson's family in Ohio, but we knew best my Uncle Wilbur (RBJ's brother) and his son Clarence in Chicago. (Clarence is now in Arizona).

The only times I saw any Jaquith genealogy in print was when my first genealogist, Miss Mabel Louise Keech, and then her successor, Hazel Kraft Eilders, both of Evanston, Illinois, printed articles in the Hobbies Magazine. They wrote the page on genealogy in this "Magazine for Collectors." In April 1953, Mrs. Eilders published the one on my descent from John Putnam of Salem, and in the June 1968 issue of the National Genealogical Society Quarterly (vol. 56, pp. 117-120) she published an addenda to a previously published article on the family (Jessie Palmer Williams, "The Jaquith Family," 50 [1962]:37-42).

Our search had to start in books — then vital records, land and probate records in the New England states which were combed thoroughly. The best part of all was to find Jaquiths in telephone books today, coast to coast, who felt alone — as we did — and were willing to help in the search. We thank them, every one.

A small group of Jaquiths in Massachusetts acted as a planning committee with Dr. George and felt that a Society would help us uncover even more data. On 16 October 1971, the first meeting of the Jaquith Family Association was held at the home of Guy and Rebecca Jaquith Rupright in Saugus, Massachusetts, with twenty-four people present. Officers and a Board of Directors were chosen, most of whom still hold their positions today. Our thanks seem inadequate to repay these loyal members who have been with us all the way. They have helped make decisions and have carried out plans for meetings that we couldn't have done alone.

It has been the most gratifying experience of my lifetime to meet Jaquiths, coast to coast, who are so friendly and helpful. Strangers, yesterday, have become cousins and helpers today to help make a lasting memorial to our founder, Abraham[1] Jaquith of Charlestown, Massachusetts, 1643. We say Thanks to each of you.

Genealogical societies are great places to record deeds of ancestors — not just to see how many one can join — but to record the deeds of those early people and put them on record. It will help keep the information for future generations.

Dr. George and I never heard of each other until 1966. After some comparing, we found identical ancestors for six generations then in the 7th, we descend from brothers. We have shared our information, work and plans since that day.

All of us must thank Dr. George Jaquith for his dream of recording this family history. It was his idea. Had we printed it the first year our findings would have made a slender book, indeed. The more involved it became, the more we reworked the manuscript. He carried on his practice and obligations at the same time. Every dream needs a financial angel and he played that role, also.

I'm pleased that I retired in time to spend a busy decade with The Jaquith Family in America.

FORMAT NOTE

The Jaquith Family in America is presented in the Register Style, the standard format in which to present American genealogy, a style which was inaugurated in the pages of the New England Historical and Genealogical Register in 1847. Simply stated, the genealogy is set up in chapters by generation. The Jaquith descendant is presented with his or her dates and places, spouse and biographical data. Then the children are listed with their vital information. If a child's line is to be carried on further, an arabic numeral is placed to the left showing the place in the next chapter. For example:

198. i. JONATHAN[7], b. 12 Nov. 1801.
ii. SYLVESTER, b. 24 Oct. 1803; drowned 7 Aug. 1827.

In this case, Jonathan had both children and grandchildren who are covered in the following chapter, and Sylvester left no descendants. If only children are known, then they are also listed here

iii. ALANSON, b. 25 Nov. 1811; d. 10 May 1899; m. SARAH BLODGETT BUCK, dau. of Sewall and Hannah (Jaquith) Buck. Ch. (surname Jaquith): 1. Sarah Jane, b. 29 Aug. 1836.

The use of superscripts designates the generation of descent from an immigrant ancestor. At the beginning of each household, the full line of descent from Abraham[1] Jaquith is shown. For example, ANDREW[6] JAQUITH (Nathaniel[5], John[4], Abraham[3-2-1]) is the son of Nathaniel[5], grandson of John[4], great-grandson of Abraham[3], great-great-grandson of Abraham[2], and great-great-great-grandson of Abraham[1] Jaquith. The same format is followed to show the descent of a number of individuals who intermarried with the Jaquiths.

Ages at the time of marriage or death are only given if the birthdate is incomplete or if the individual attained an extraordinary age. In the children's section, ages are often abbreviated, such as 5-11-3 for five years, eleven months, three days. Standard English abbreviations have been used elsewhere in the text except in contemporary addresses which conform to current Post Office regulations.

The information contained in this book is the result of years of research conducted by the authors as explained in their own forewords. In preparing the work for publication, the first five generations have been re-checked against primary and secondary sources for accuracy. Most of the more recent material has been gathered from living descendants and varies considerably in its completeness. Because this material was compiled in a multi-year project, there is no single cut-off date for information. In some cases, the latest information available was from 1971, in others 1977. However, the bulk of the manuscript is complete through 1980, and there are some additions through 1982. The Jaquith Family Association will be accepting further data for an eventual supplement. All corrections and additions should be sent directly to the authors.

FIRST GENERATION

1. ABRAHAM[1] JAQUITH, the immigrant ancestor, began the family record at Charlestown, Massachusetts, by marrying in or before 1643 ANN[2] JORDAN, daughter of James[1] Jordan of Dedham, Massachusetts. Ann was admitted to full communion at the First Church of Charlestown, 13 May 1643, as "Anna Jcques"; Abraham was admitted 19 January 1644/5 as "Abraham Jaquith" (Thomas B. Wyman, The Genealogies and Estates of Charlestown [Boston, 1883]).

In 1649 Abraham Jaquith bought a house from Mrs. Alice Barnard, wife of William Barnard (A Report of the Record Commissioners Containing Charlestown Land Records, 1638-1802 [Boston, 1883], 110):

Know all men by these presents, that I, Alice Barnard, the wife of M[r]· William Barnard, of Charltowne, do acknowledg that I have sould, and am fully payed therefore, unto Abraham Jaquith, one house, scituate without the Neck, which once pertained to Ezekiell Richeson, with a parcell of land lying within and between the upper corner post of the house, and runing with a straight line to the Garden of the aforesayd Abraham Jaquith, which house, land and all the Apurtenances thertoo pertaining, I Alice Barnard, with the consent and in the behalfe of my husband, M[r] William Barnard, doe hereby Resigne all me Right, titles and Interests, and my husband's, or any from us, unto the sayd Abraham Jaquith, to be his and his heigrs for ever.

As apeareth by me hand set to the paper of the sale, in the presence of M[r] Increase Nowel, the 17th of the 10th moneth, 1649.

It is interesting to note that Increase Nowell was a member of the same church and was a large landowner at the time of his death (3200 acres).

Abraham owned another property later, for when "Malden was set off from Charlestown in 1649, Charlestown retained a large quantity of land on the Mystic [River] side, lying between Malden and Medford Farm. When this land was divided in 1658, 4 acres in wood and 1 in common were alloted to Abraham Jaquith's house" (ibid., 81; Charlestown Land Records, "Jacoes hous, 4 acres in wood, and 1 acre in Comons").

The will of Ann (Jordan) Jaquith's father, James Jordan of Dedham, "deceased 29 of 1 mo." 1655, mentions Abraham, Ann, and five of their children (Dedham Town Records, vols. 1, 2, 1635-1845, 128; "Abstracts of the Earliest Wills upon Record in the County of Suffolk, Mass.," New England Historical and Genealogical Register, 5[1851]:441, hereafter Register):

Unto Thomas Jordan, my sonne and to his heyres forever, that my feather bed and bolster and pillow whereon I usually lodge together with all ye bedding whatsoever thereunto belonging, as well as woolen and linen and also my other linnen, only reserving and excepting such as shall be necessarily used about ye decent burial of my body and further I give to my said son Thomas, all my wearing apparrel whatsoever also my working tools. Unto Mary, my eldest daughter whom ye Lord hath visited with blindness, ye somme of thirty pounds, to her and her heyres forever, which thirty pounds is in ye hand of Thomas Jordan my sonne provided yet if it shall please ye Lord yet I shall live and be necessarily occasioned to expent any parte of, then my daughter shall have ye remainder, otherwise she shall have the whole to be payed to her or her heyres or assigns, as by bill from Thomas, my sonne it ought to be payed to me. Unto ye five children of my daughter, Anne, the wife of Abraham Jaquith, late of Charles Towne, the somme of five pounds, yet is to say to each of yon twenty shillings, to be payed to said Abraham, their father to their use in Currant Countrey payment and at prize then current delivered within one whole yeare after my decease, in Dedham. Eleazer Lusher of Dedham, sole Executor, unto whom I bequesth whatsoever of my estate is hitherto undisposed of toward charges aforesaid.

From the wording of the will it appears that Abraham and Ann no longer lived at Charlestown; indeed, their four youngest children were born at Woburn. Also, Middlesex County Court Records (1:187) state that in 1659 "Abram Jaquis of Woburn presented to the court his inability to military exercises by reason of his bodily informity, as also the same certified under the hand of Capt. Edward Johnson, is dismissed from all ordinary training, he paying five shillings per annum to the use of the military company in the town where he dwells." This record would indicate he lived in Woburn twenty years, and possibly more.

Abraham died 17 December 1676 during the smallpox epidemic which swept Charlestown, but the cause of death and place of burial are not known. His will states:

This 16: of the 9th m^{o} 1676.

I Abram̃ Jaquith of the Towne of Oburne in the Coun of Midd. in New Engld. being weake in body, but perfect in memory, and understanding, do make this my last will & testamt. Ann (Jordan) Jaquith married (2) at Woburn, 12 July 1682, as his third wife, Henry Brooke, who was born circa 1592 and died at Woburn, 12 April 1683. He is most likely the Henry Brooks who came to Boston from Scotland in 1630, was listed as a freeman at Concord, Massachusetts, 1639, and removed to Woburn in 1650. He married (1) at Concord, 1639 ———; he married (2) before 27 March 1651 Susanna ———, widow of Ezekiel[1] Richardson. Henry was a selectman of Woburn in 1649 or 1669 (Samuel Sewell, History of Woburn, Middlesex County, 1640–1860 [Boston, 1868]). His will was dated 18 July 1862; his wife Ann survived him (Edward F. Johnson, Abstracts of Early Woburn Deeds [Woburn, 1895], 31).

Children:

2. i. ABRAHAM[2], b. 19 Dec. 1644.
   ii. MARY, b. at Charlestown, 3 Nov. 1646; was not living when her father died.

iii. JOHN, b. at Woburn; living in 1709 when his care was mentioned in the will of his brother-in-law James Snow (see no. 3).

iv. LYDIA, b. at Woburn; m. there, 10 Jan. 1678 DAVID[2] FOX, b. ca. 1656, son of Thomas[1], b. 1619, d. 1658, and his second wife, Hannah (Brooks) Fox, d. ca. 1690. Thomas Fox was a member of the Concord church and lived near the "Great Swamp" north of the church, on the road to Billerica. In 1644 he was a freeman at Concord. After the death of Thomas, his wife Hannah and their young sons Thomas, Samuel, and John moved to New London, Conn., where she became the third wife of Andrew Lester and had three sons by him. David was a soldier in the Phipps Expedition to Quebec and probably never went to New London (George Henry Fox, Descendants of Eliphalet Fox, —1644, of Concord, Mass., First Son of Thomas Fox, Five Generations [New York, 1931]).

3. v. SARAH, b. at Woburn.

4. vi. DEBORAH, b. 1654 or later.

SECOND GENERATION

2. ABRAHAM[2] JAQUITH (Abraham[1]) was born at Charlestown, Massachusetts, 19 December 1644 and died 14 April 1679, aged thirty-five, of wounds received in 1676 as a soldier under Captain Wheeler in King Philip's War. He married at Woburn, 13 March 1671 MARY[2] ADFORD, daughter of Henry[1] and Thomazin or Tomson or Tamasin (Munson or Manson) Adford of Scituate, Massachusetts. Henry[1] Adford was one of the founders of Scituate, having settled there prior to 1640; he died at Rehoboth, Massachusetts, 1653. Tamasin came from England in 1635 on the Blessing. They were married 15 October 1643 and had four daughters: Elizabeth, baptized 29 June 1651; Experience, baptized 18 April 1652, married at Chelmsford, 18 June 1672 Abraham, son of Henry Biam; Mary, baptized 29 June 1651; Sarah, baptized 29 June 1651. They had no sons.

Abraham[2] Jaquith resided at Woburn and was taxed there, 1666. He was listed as Abraham "Jaque" among the "scout of forty men, troopers & dragoons to scout between Groton, Lancaster & Marlboro" under Captain Thomas Wheeler and Lieutenant Henry Woodhouse (George Madison Bodge, Soldiers in King Philip's War [Boston, 1906], 114). He died intestate. The inventory of the estate is quoted below (Middlesex Probate, 5:327):

T.D.R.

After Abraham's death, Mary (Adford) Jaquith married, as his third wife, Jacob[2] Hamlet, son of William[1] Hamlet of Watertown and later of Cambridge, by his wife Sarah, formerly the widow of James Hubbard. William[1] Hamlet was born circa 1614, was a freeman in 1651, and removed about 1658 to Billerica, where he was one of the first Baptists. His wife Sarah died at Woburn, 18 January 1689. They had four children: Jacob, who was baptized at Cambridge between 1640 and 1645 and died January 1702; Rebecca, who was baptized at Cambridge, married 17 December 1665 James Frost, and died soon after; Sarah; and Thomas. Jacob[2] Hamlet married (1) 22 July 1668 Hannah Parker of Chelmsford, who died at Billerica, 26 June 1669 "in ye time of her travaile not delivered" [i.e., in childbed delivering a stillborn child]. He married (2) 21 December 1669 Mary Dutton, daughter of Thomas and Susannah Dutton, who was born 14 September 1651 and died at Billerica, 9 July 1678 of smallpox. Jacob married (3) Mary (Adford) Jaquith. He had five children by his second marriage, all born at Billerica: Mary, born 31 [sic] November 1670; Sarah, born 18 March 1672; Hannah, born 14 December 1673; Rebecka, born March 1676; and William, born 16 December 1677, died 23 December 1677. Jacob and Mary (Adford) (Jaquith) Hamlet had six children, all born at Woburn: Jacob, born and died August 1680; Joseph, born 31 August 1681, married 14 April 1707 Susannah Cutler; William, born 8 September 1683, married 8 December 1720 Rebecca[3] Butters, daughter of William[2] (William[1]) and Rebecca Butters, and had four children; Jacob, born 4 January 1686; Henry, born and died 6 February 1688; and Abigail, born 25 March 1689, died 23 October 1755, married James Thompson (James Savage, Genealogical Dictionary of New England, 4 vols. [Boston, 1860], 2:7; Vital Records of Billerica, Massachusetts . . . [Boston, 1908]).

THIRD GENERATION

5. ABRAHAM[3] JAQUITH (Abraham[2-1]) was born at Woburn, Massachusetts, 17 February 1673 and died at Wilmington, Massachusetts, 18 December 1753. He married at Woburn, 26 December 1700 SARAH[2] JONES, daughter of Hugh[1] and Mary (Foster) Jones. Hugh[1] Jones was born at Wincanton, England, in 1635, descended from an ancient Welsh line. He emigrated to New England and settled at Salem in 1650, where he died in 1688. Hugh married (1) 26 June 1660 Hannah Tompkins, daughter of John and Margaret Tompkins of Salem, who was born 21 February 1640/1 and died 10 May 1672. There were eight children by this marriage. Hugh married (2) 31 December 1672 Mary Foster, a cousin of his first wife, who was born 10 July 1681 and died 13 February 1771, daughter of John and Margaret (Tompkins) Foster of Salem. There were seven children by this marriage, Sarah being the fifth (Myrtle Bowen Clark, Jones Genealogy, Being a Record of the Descendants of Hugh Jones of Salem, Massachusetts, Emigrant from Wincanton, England [St. Johnsbury, Vt., 1931]).

Abraham[3] Jaquith had extensive land dealings in Woburn, particularly in that section where he lived which was set off as the new town of Wilmington in 1730. On 7 March 1693/4 he sold his father's homestead and orchard in Woburn to James Fowle for a parcel of fifty-three acres near Lubbers Brook in Woburn. This deed was co-signed by his mother Mary Hamlet, releasing her dower rights in the property (Middlesex Deeds, 10:374). On 16 February 1702/3, he purchased for £30 three small parcels of land in Billerica near the Woburn line. The deed granted these lands "with all the Rights of Timber Trees, wood and Brush, Grass and herbage thereon Standing lying or growing and all that Ever Shall grow upon there . . ." (ibid., 24:558). On 3 November 1718, Abraham Jaquith purchased a thirteen-acre lot in Woburn from Edward Winn for £12.10 (ibid., 24:559).

On 22 December 1721, Joseph Hamlet of Woburn, husbandman, sold to his half-brother, Abraham[3] Jaquith, for £200 sixty acres of land in Woburn, "the homestead of the said Joseph Hamblett . . . with a House and [blank] thereon . . . bounded west upon the Land of the Said Abraham Jaquith, bounded Northwest by Billerica Town Line, on the North by Thomas Richardson of Billerica and on the East by Deacon Samuel Walker" along with eight acres of meadow land on Lubbers Brook in Woburn, and Hamlet's moity in their four acres of land in Billerica on "Colledge Brook" (ibid., 24:559). On 22 February 1725, he bought a thirty-two acre lot in Woburn from Isaac Watson of Cambridge, Massachusetts. This land was formerly part of "Jacob Hamblet's great Lott" and adjoined Abraham Jaquith's other land (ibid., 25:294).

After 1730, the deeds refer to Abraham Jaquith as husbandman of Wilmington. On 23 December 1730, he and his son John[4] Jaquith jointly purchased about fifty-three acres of land on Lubbers Brook in Wilmington, adjoining land they already held there (ibid., 32:61). On 4 February 1734, Abraham Jaquith purchased a fifty-acre wood lot in Wilmington (ibid., 37:348); and on 18 February 1734/5 he purchased the other fifty acres of that original wood lot (ibid., 37:347). In 1739 he received a parcel of common and undivided land in the Woburn-Wilmington area when the Proprietors decided to allot this 17 May/June 1739. He received one-half acre with twenty-four poles as his share.

The eventual estate of Abraham is said to have comprised about six hundred acres, mostly bottom land. Sewell stated in his History of Woburn (p. 242):

> There can be no question, that when the second meeting-house in Woburn was built on the hill in 1672, its situation was central, or nearly so, to the great mass of the population. But, since that time, new settlements had been continually making at the north and northwest. And hence the distances of the people in the several quarters of the town from the meeting-house had now become very unequal. For while the inhabitants of the south village (now Winchester) were only between two and three miles from the meeting-house, the dwelling-house of Sergeant Abraham Jaquith, in Goshen, was quite seven miles off . . . [Goshen was that portion of Woburn set off as Wilmington in 1730].

On 15 May 1750, Abraham Jaquith purchased an additional forty acres of land in Wilmington which was "in the second range of Great lots" (ibid., 49:268).

In the final deed of his lifetime, Abraham[3] Jaquith was described as a "Gentleman" of Wilmington. He sold on 18 April 1743 to his son Benjamin[4] Jaquith 120 acres of upland and meadow in Wilmington and 5 acres on Lubbers Brook (ibid., 57:72).

Abraham[3] Jaquith was active in Wilmington town affairs; in 1731 he served on committees to procure a decent burial place for the town and to procure preaching; in 1732 he was on committees to lay out the stable, to build galleries in the meeting house, and to treat with Mr. Cotton; in 1733 he served as selectman and on a committee to treat with Mr. Varney who was settled that year as minister of the town. He was one of the original seventeen members of the church, his name being third on the list dated 24 October 1733. Sarah, his wife, was admitted 23 December 1733.

The will of Abraham[3] states (Middlesex Probate, 26:337):

> In the Name of God Amen: This fifteenth day of May ADomini 1750 I Abraham Jaquith of Wilmington in the County of Middlesex within his Majesties Province of the Massachusetts Bay in New England Gen^{te} Being weak of Body but of perfect mind & memory, Thanks be given to God. 8. SARAH[3] SNOW (Sarah[2], Abraham[1]) was born at Woburn, Massachusetts, 18 April 1679 and died 20 February 1762. She married at Marlborough, Massachusetts, 19 Dec. 1704 SAMUEL[4] STOW, who was born there, 2 May 1680 and died there, 13 February 1769, son of Samuel[3] (Thomas[2], John[1]) and Elizabeth (Stone) Stow. Samuel[3] Stow, one of the original proprietors of Grafton, New Hampshire, was born in 1645 and died in 1721. He married in 1669 Elizabeth Stone. Through this Stow connection, descendants are eligible to join The Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts, either Women Descendants or the society for men, through Thomas[2] Stow (1610-circa 1684) and John[1] Stowe (1581-1643).

The estate of Samuel Stow of Marlborough was administered by his son Simon Stow. The inventory, taken 11 April 1769, totalled £145 in real estate and £25.6 in personal estate (Middlesex Probate, no. 21787, first series).

Children, surname Stow (Vital Records of Marlborough, Massachusetts . . . [Worcester, Mass., 1908]):

9. JOHN[3] CHAMBERLAIN (Deborah[2], Abraham[1]) was born at Billerica, Massachusetts, 22 January 1684 and died there, 3 March 1722/3. He married at Concord, Massachusetts, 13 March 1709/10 MARGARET[3] GOULD, who was born at Dunstable, Massachusetts, 26 May 1686, daughter of Samuel[2] (Francis[1]) and Mehitable (Barrett) Gould.

John and Margaret Chamberlain resided at Billerica. On 2 April 1723 Margaret Chamberlain, with Nathaniel Hudson as surety, gave bond to administer the estate of her late husband. The inventory was taken 22 April 1723, and the real estate listed included "About 22 acres of upland with a small dwelling house upon it" (Middlesex Probate, file no. 4165, first series).

Children, surname Chamberlain (Billerica VRs):

FOURTH GENERATION

10. ABRAHAM[4] JAQUITH (Abraham[3-2-1]) was born at Woburn, Massachusetts, 30 December 1701 and died 7 January 1790. He married at Billerica, Massachusetts, 18 January 1726/7 HANNAH[4] FARLEY, who was born at Billerica, 4 February 1708 and died there, 16 April 1753, daughter of Ebenezer[3] (Caleb[2], George[1]) and Elizabeth (Shedd) Farley (Woburn VRs; Sewell, History of Woburn; Billerica VRs; George E. Foster, One Line of the Farley Family [Ithaca, N.Y., 1897]). Both Abraham and Hannah are buried in the Old South Cemetery, Billerica, which is on land contributed by the Jaquiths.

Hannah Farley's great-grandfather, George[1] Farley, came to Boston in 1635 on the Lion and settled at Woburn as a tailor. He married (1) 9 April 1641 Beatrice Snow and had five children by her: James[2] Farley, born and died 1643; Caleb Farley, born 1 April 1645, died at Billerica, 16 March 1712, married Lydia More, had a son Ebenezer[3] Farley, who married Elizabeth Shedd and had a daughter Hannah[4], who married Abraham[4] Jaquith; Mary[2], born 27 February 1647, married John Sanders; Timothy, killed by an Indian in King Philip's War, 2 August 1675; and Elizabeth, who left Woburn and sold the family place to Richard Snow. George[1] Farley married (2) Christian Births in 1653, who was also a passenger on the Lion, orphaned on the voyage. She was a Swede, and possibly had a sister Hannah, who married as his second wife, 21 May 1649, Henry Jefts. George and Christian had two children: Samuel[2], born at Billerica the last week of March 1654, the first white child born there; and Mehitabell, born the last week of May 1656, died 1 February 1672. (See Donna Valley Stuart, "Some Descendants of George Farley of Billerica, Massachusetts," Register, 136 [1982]: 43-62, 133-147.)

In 1665 George Farley built a "commodious House" on the corner of the Dudley grant in Billerica, which was used as a garrison house during King Philip's War. George W. Chamberlain in William Chamberlain of Billerica, Massachusetts, explains why the Farley garrison house still stands, while most of them were burned and destroyed. It seems that Captain Daniel Gookin and John Eliot, the apostle to the Indians, visited the Wamesit Indians on the Merrimac River about five miles north of the Billerica settlement on 5 and 6 May 1674 and heard the chief Numphow declare he would become a Christian. In Gookin's narrative he gives full details of the visit (Henry A. Hazen, History of Billerica, Massachusetts, With a Genealogical Register [Boston, 1883], 104-106). In that account Captain Gookin said, "in this town [Billerica] they observe the same civil and religious orders as in other towns and have a constable and other officers." The constable to whom he referred was Samuel Manning for 1674 and William Chamberlain for 1673, whose duties had been so well performed that Numphow and his tribe refused to join King Philip one year later. The inhabitants of Billerica, although living in constant fear, escaped the cruel tomahawks and the loss of their homes, although they were domiciled in garrisons as were the inhabitants of other towns.

Abraham[4] Jaquith and his wife Hannah were given the Farley homestead in Billerica by Ebenezer[2] Farley "for and in consideration of the Love and Affection which I have and do bear unto my Daughter Hannah Jaquith the wife of Ab^{m} Jaquith Jun^{r} of Woburn in the county abovesaid and for other good causes & considerations thereunto me moveing . . . in full of their part & portion in my Estate . . . but not to be in the possession thereof until after my Decease." This transaction was signed on 2 April 1728 and included the "homested or house Lott containing about fifty Acres more or less of Orchard, pasture, Plough Land and Mowing ground" (Middlesex Deeds, 27:265). The next month, on 16 May 1728, Abraham Jaquith received from his father-in-law three hundred pounds, which he was to repay as an annuity for his mother-in-law during the period of her widowhood (ibid., 32:220). Elizabeth Farley quitclaimed her interest in her late husband's real estate in return for thirty shillings to be paid annually by Abraham Jaquith according to another deed signed 18 February 1735 (ibid., 37:111).

The house is still standing on Concord Road and is used today by Joseph Jaquith Casey, a direct descendant of George Farley. The house has remained continuously in the possession of his descendants, and is possibly the oldest residence in the Boston area continuously owned and inhabited by descendants of the original owner.

Over the years, Abraham[4] Jaquith had a number of real estate transactions in the area. On 19 February 1731 he purchased forty acres of upland and meadow in Bedford (ibid., 37:647); three acres in Treble Coves Meadow, Billerica, from his brother-in-law Benjamin Jaquith, on 21 November 1733 (ibid., 37:648); and two-and-a-half acres in Pond Meadow, Billerica, on 17 May 1734 (ibid., 37:649); nine acres of meadow and upland bordering the Shawsheen River in Billerica, on 2 January 1741 (ibid., 44:48); and two parcels of land in Billerica, one of about thirty acres bordering the town common, and one of seven acres on the Mill Road, on 6 April 1743 (ibid., 43:395). On 23 November 1757, he sold the nine acres on the Shawsheen River for £66.13.4 (ibid., 59:221). On 29 September 1761 he purchased an additional fourteen acres in Billerica adjoining some of his other land (ibid., 66:170).

11. SARAH[4] JAQUITH (Abraham[3-2-1]) was born at Woburn, Massachusetts, 8 March 1703 and baptized and admitted to the Church of Christ, 2 February 1752. She married at Woburn, 25 January 1726 SAMUEL[3] BUTTERS of Woburn, who died November 1788, son of William[2] (William[1]) and Rebecca Butters.

Samuel was a resident of Goshen, now Wilmington, Massachusetts. He took an interest in the welfare of church matters in that part of Woburn and was one of the petitioners for a division of the town of Woburn. He ran a sawmill in connection with farming and acquired a large part of timbered lands, especially the cedar swamps of Lebanon and Ladder Pole. In 1742 Samuel purchased land and sawmill interests from Mr. James Baldwin. Samuel and Sarah lived in the south part of Wilmington, plat number 3, the garrison house on Butters' Row. The original Butter Apple, parent of the Baldwin Apple, grew here. For 225 years prior to 1895, some lineal descendant bearing the name Butters lived there. Samuel and Sarah (Jaquith) Butters lived on an adjoining farm to brother William and Abigail (Jaquith) Butters, sister of Sarah. Many Jaquiths, Butters, Bucks, and Hamblets are buried in Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington (George Butters, The Genealogical Register of the Butters Family [Chicago, 1890], 40-42).

Reuben was a farmer and inherited his father's old homestead, a piece of meadow near Flagg's bridge, and half a pew in the meetinghouse. At a meeting at Wilmington, 7 Mar. 1773, he was elected one of a Committee of Correspondence with the Boston committee. On 17 May 1780 the form of the state constitution as reported by the Cambridge convention was submitted to the people of Wilmington and referred to a committee, of which Reuben was a member. 12. JOHN[4] JAQUITH (Abraham[3-2-1]) was born at Woburn, Massachusetts, 7 October 1704, died at Wilmington, Massachusetts, 18 September 1781, and was buried near the church in Wilmington Cemetery. He married (1) at Billerica, 30 October 1729 MARY[3] NEEDHAM of Billerica, Massachusetts, who was born 5 February 1711/2 and died 28 March 1743, daughter of John[2] (John[1]) and Mary (Jefts) Needham. John Needham was born circa 1676, died 24 February 1742, and married 26 February 1702/3 Mary Jefts, who was born 23 September 1683 and died 17 February 1769. John Jaquith married (2) 21 February 1743/4 TAMESIN[4] MORRILL, who was born 16 October 1712 and died at Wilmington, 1796, daughter of Isaac[3] (Isaac[2], Abraham[1]) and Abigail (Brown) Morrill of Salisbury. She was the great-granddaughter of Abraham[1] Morrill of the original Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company (Annie Morrill Smith, Morrill Kindred in America [New York, 1914]).

John Jaquith was a lieutenant in Colonel E. Tyng's Regiment and marched on the alarm for the relief of Fort William Henry in August 1757 (Muster Roll no. 77872). He was active in civil affairs in Woburn, as evidenced by a petition he signed in 1728 (Sewell, History of Woburn, 252).

On 21 January 1734, Abraham[3] Jaquith "for divers good causes me thereunto moving but more especially for the Love and good will that I bear to my loving and dutiful son John Jaquith" sold him the "land whereon he now liveth in Wilmington near to my Dwelling house. It having a House and Barn thereon and orchard & cowland meadow," plus two other pieces of meadow land (Middlesex Deeds, 42:39). John, first in partnership with his father and later with his brother Benjamin, purchased several small lots of meadow land in Wilmington (ibid., 32:61; 42:41; 61:333). His will, dated 25 February 1779 and filed 10 October 1781 (Middlesex Probate, 61:310), states:

In the Name of God Amen. The Twenty fifth Day of February Anno Domini One Thousand Seven hundred and Seventy Nine. 14. ADFORD[4] JAQUITH (Abraham[3-2-1]) was born at Woburn, Massachusetts, 15 April 1710, died at Dunstable, Massachusetts, 16 July 1791 in his eighty-second year, and was buried in the First Meeting House Hill Cemetery, also called the First Burial Ground, Dunstable. He married (1) 1735 MARGARET LEEMAN, who was born circa 1714, died 24 January 1776 in her sixty-second year, and was also buried in the First Burial Ground. Adford married (2) 25 October 1776 OLIVE DAVIS of Dunstable.

On 6 June 1733 Adford Jaquith, husbandman of Wilmington, purchased seventy-three acres of land in Dunstable, and in 1736 purchased an additional eighty acres there, "within the limits of a Farm called Brattles Farm" and bounded on the north by Jaquith's land (Middlesex Deeds, 37:507, 508). He was a yeoman farmer at Dunstable for fifty-five years. He voted at Dunstable in 1743, was a taxpayer in 1744 (Dunstable Town Records), and built a house in 1740 which still stands and was copied in Ashby, Massachusetts, by his son Adford[5]. He was very active in organizing the West Parish in Dunstable, 1755, and was an original member of the Congregational Church. Adford also was a soldier in the Revolution, having enlisted for three months from New York. He was listed in the 1790 census at Dunstable as head of a household consisting of three males above sixteen years, one male under sixteen, and four females. After his death, Olive (Davis) Jaquith married 12 July 1792 Abraham Leeman of Hollis, New Hampshire.

Adford's will, along with statements from his wife Olive and sons Adford and Benjamin, are found in the Middlesex Probate (75:396). Similar statements were received from William Pearson, husband of his daughter Mary, and James Carter, grandson, concerning their bequests.

To all People to whom these Presents shall come, Oliver Presscott Esquire, Judge of the Probate of Wills, &c. in the County of Middlesex, within the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, sendeth Greeting.

Know ye, that on the fourth day of November Anno Domini 1800, the Instrument hereunto annexed (purporting the last Will and Testament of Ebenezer Jaquith yeoman late of Willmington in said County of Middlesex deceased) was presented for Probate by Joshua Jaquith, the Executor therein named; then present James Jaquith & Andrew W. Dunkle two of the Witnesses thereto subscribed, who made Oath that they saw the said Testator sign, seal, and heard him declare the said Instrument to be his last Will and Testament, and that they with Reuben Butters since deceased subscribed their Names together as Witnesses to the Execution thereof, in the said Testator^{S} Presence; and that he was then (to the best of their judgment) of sound and disposing mind.

I do prove, approve and allow of the said Instrument as the last Will and Testament of the before-named deceased, and do commit the Administration thereof in all Matters the same concerning, and of his Estate whereof he died seized and possessed in said Commonwealth, unto Joshua Jaquith the before-named Executor well and faithfully to execute the said Will, and to administer the Estate of the said Deceased according thereto; who accepted of his said Trust, and gave bonds to pay the debts & Legacies and he shall render an Account (upon Oath) of his Proceedings, when thereunto lawfully required.

In Testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my Hand and Seal of Office, the Day and Year above written.

Oliver Prescott

MIDDLESEX, ss. AT a Probate Court held at Cambridge within and for said County, on the fourth Day of Nov^{r} A. D. 1800 I hereby order Joshua Jaquith the Executor to the last Will and Testament of Eben^{r} Jaquith late of Willmington in said County, yeoman deceased, to make known his Appointment and Acceptance of said Trust, by Posting Notifications thereof in said Town of Willmington and also by causing the same to be inserted three weeks successively in the newspaper printed in Boston by Benj^{a} Russell within three months from this day, and to make return of his Doings hereon to the Probate Office on Oath, within seven Months from the date hereof.

Oliver Prescott J prob.

Know all Men by these presents, That We Joshua Jaquith yeoman as principle & James Jaquith gentleman a Surety, both of Willmington & Andrew W. 26. HANNAH[5] JAQUITH (Abraham[4-3-2-1]) was born at Billerica, Massachusetts, 22 December 1730 and died at Burlington, Massachusetts, 28 December 1804. She married at Billerica, 8 June 1758 SAMUEL[4] SHED, who was born at Billerica, 5 March 1731/2, died there, 11 September 1768, aged thirty-six, and was buried near his father in the Old South Burial Ground, Billerica, with a common field stone reading "S. Shed 1768" marking the grave, son of Benjamin[3] (John[2], Daniel[1]) and Abial (———) Shed.

Samuel became a farmer at Billerica and was assessed for the ministerial rate in 1755. He was a soldier in the French and Indian Wars, serving in Lieutenant William Manning's detachment of Captain Thomas Flint's Company, Colonel Eleazer Tyng's Regiment, which marched from Billerica, August 1757, to join an army sent to relieve Fort William Henry, New York, which was besieged by a vastly superior force of French and Indians. After reaching Shrewsbury, thirty-four miles distant, they received word that the fort had surrendered, so the relief forces were dismissed and sent home. Samuel was credited with five-and-a-half days service for this (Massachusetts Archives, 95:501). Administration of his estate was granted 1768 (Middlesex Probate, file no. 20230, first series).

In the 1790 census for Billerica, Hannah is listed as head of a household consisting of two females. Later she resided with son Samuel at Burlington until her death (Frank E. Shed, Daniel Shed Genealogy [Boston, 1921], 84, 85).

28. BENJAMIN[5] JAQUITH (Abraham[4-3-2-1]) was born at Billerica, Massachusetts, 28 February 1737/8 and died 11 February 1810. He married at Billerica, 27 June 1765 PHEBE[5] MARSHALL, who was born there, 12 January 1738/9 and died at Hartland, Vermont, 17 April 1828, daughter of Isaac[4] (John[3-2-1]) and Phebe (Richardson) Marshall of Billerica (Mr. & Mrs. Frank Burnside Kingsbury, Marshall Family Record [Keene, N.H., 1913], 6, 7).

Benjamin and Phebe resided at Fitchburg, Massachusetts, where Benjamin served as tithingman and a surveyor of highways in 1775, and as one of the collectors of highway taxes in 1776 (Old Records of Fitchburg, 1:111, 121). They soon moved to Jaffrey, New Hampshire, where Benjamin owned 100 acres of land which he sold 11 August 1786 to Thomas Brattle of Boston, Massachusetts. Benjamin served in Jaffrey as grand juryman, 1782, a field-driver, 1785, and a highway surveyor, 1787 (Annett and Lehtinen, History of Jaffrey, 2:436). The family returned to Fitchburg and was warned out (Old Records of Fitchburg, 1:338, 339):

Joseph was in the Revolution, marching on the Lexington Alarm, 19 April 1775 as a private in Captain Solomon Pollard's Company of Militia, Colonel Green's Regiment (Mass. Soldiers and Sailors of the Rev. War, 8:720). He was listed in the 1790 census for Billerica as head of a household consisting of three males over sixteen years and five females.

Joseph Jaquith of Billerica, yeoman, made his will 16 June 1818 with a codicil dated 1 May 1824. In it he mentions his wife, daughters Elizabeth French, Judith Abbott, and Abigail, and son Joseph (Middlesex Probate, 157:23). The real estate inventory included an undivided half of the homestead consisting of about twenty acres, forty-six acres of plain and woodland, four acres in Pond Meadows, and a half pew in the meetinghouse (ibid., 157:99).

35. SAMUEL[5] BUTTERS (Sarah[4], Abraham[3-2-1]) was born at Wilmington, Massachusetts, 30 November 1728 and died 7 May 1793. He married

(1) at Medford, Massachusetts, 13 April 1749 KEZIAH DANA of Medford, who was admitted to the Church of Christ, 5 May 1751 and died 15 July 1759. Samuel was baptized and admitted to the Church of Christ, 12 August 1759. He married (2) at Wilmington, 7 October 1762 RUTH (WYMAN) KILLAM, widow of Daniel Killam. She died 28 April 1828.

Samuel received from his father a homestead of one hundred acres, lying east of and adjoining that of his brother John. He also received seven acres of land near the meetinghouse, a right in Ladder Pole, and half a pew in church. Samuel and Reuben received the oxen, and all other animals were divided equally among all the children.

Samuel marched on the Lexington Alarm, 19 April 1775 with a company of minutemen of Monson, Massachusetts, led by Captain Freeborn Moulton in Colonel Donnelson's Regiment. He was commissioned by Harrison Gray, treasurer of Massachusetts Bay Colony, to collect taxes, he being constable of Wilmington that year (Butters, Butters Family, 48, 49).

Children by first marriage, surname Butters (Wilmington VRs):

i. SAMUEL[6], b. 15 Nov. 1749; bp. at Church of Christ, Wilmington, 15 July 1751; d. 14 June 1812; m. 40. JOSHUA[5] JAQUITH (John[4], Abraham[3-2-1]) was born at Wilmington, Massachusetts, 8 October 1738. He married 27 May 1762 HANNAH BEARD of Wilmington. They later removed to Wilton, New Hampshire.

Joshua Jaquith of "Duxborough School farm [now part of Milford] in the Province of New Hampshire yeoman," made his will 18 May 1764, mentioning his wife Hannah and their only child, Joshua. If this son died young, the estate was to be divided among his brothers Nathaniel, Jonathan, and John. His father, John[4] Jaquith, was appointed executor (Middlesex Probate, 29:54). An inventory was requested on 8 August 1764 and included a house and 100 acres of land.

Child:

97. i. JOSHUA[6], b. ca. 1764.

41. NATHANIEL[5] JAQUITH (John[4], Abraham[3-2-1]) was born at Wilmington, Massachusetts, 13 February 1743/4 and died there, 15 October 1781. He married 21 April 1768 MARY[4] FARMER, who was born at Billerica, Massachusetts, 8 October 1738, daughter of Andrew[3] (Edward[2-1]) and Lucy (———) Farmer. She is probably the widow Mary Jaquith who married 9 December 1779 John Cram, both of Wilton, New Hampshire. They had two children: Mary, born 30 December 1783, and Phebe, born 8 August 1786 (Hammond, "Vital Records of Wilton").

There is no record of estate probate for Nathaniel in Middlesex County.

Child:

98. i. ANDREW[6], b. at Wilton, 28 June 1772.

42. JONATHAN[5] JAQUITH (John[4], Abraham[3-2-1]) was born at Wilmington, Massachusetts, 13 September 1749 and died between 27 August and 22 September 1778, the dates of his will and estate probate. He married (recorded in Woburn and Wilmington VRs) 14 January 1773 LYDIA[6]

JOHNSON of Woburn, daughter of Reuben[5] (Samuel[4], Edward[3], William[2], Edward[1]) and Sarah (Johnson) Johnson, both direct descendants of Captain Edward[1] Johnson of early Massachusetts Colony fame (Edward F. Johnson, Captain Edward Johnson of Woburn, Massachusetts [Woburn, 1905], 21). Abraham[1] Jaquith was acquainted with Captain Edward Johnson, attended the same church, and lived in the same town. Lydia married (2) at Wilmington, 8 May 1793 Joseph Coggin of Amherst, New Hampshire.

Jonathan was a private in Colonel Timothy Walker's Regiment and fought at Crown Point. He also hired others to fight (Mass. Soldiers and Sailors, 8:724).

Jonathan Jaquith of Wilmington, a "Housewrite," in his will dated 27 August 1778 bequeathed his wife Lydia the whole improvement of his estate; to his son Jonathan a double portion; and the residue of the estate to his daughter Lydia. In the event that the children predeceased him, the estate was to be divided between his brothers John and David and sister Sarah, the wife of Jonathan Thompson. The widow Lydia requested probate of the estate 22 September 1778. The inventory, which was taken 13 October 1778, included one dwelling house, barn and shop with about twenty-six acres of upland, and meadow adjoining the house (Middlesex Probate, 58:377).

Lydia Jaquith was listed in the 1790 census as the head of a household in Wilmington consisting of one male under sixteen and four females.

Children (Wilmington VRs):

99. i. JONATHAN[6], b. 23 Nov. 1775.
ii. LYDIA, b. 28 Aug. 1777; m. ——— THOMPSON.

43. JAMES[5] LEWIS (Elizabeth[4], Abraham[3-2-1]) was born at Billerica, Massachusetts, 25 September 1735 and died at Groton, Massachusetts, 12 June 1810. He married 3 January 1760 REBECCA BROWN, who was born at Billerica, 18 February 1738/9 and died at Groton, 1 January 1814, daughter of Samuel and Mary (———) Brown. They resided at Groton, 1796.

46. JAMES[5] BUTTERS (Abigail[4], Abraham[3-2-1]) was born at Wilmington, Massachusetts, 22 February 1745/6, died there, 21 March 1838, aged ninety-three, and was buried in Wilmington New Cemetery, the grave decorated by the Sons of the American Revolution, Massachusetts. He married (1) at Wilmington, 1 August 1799 ABIGAIL BUTTERFIELD. He married (2) ESTHER (CUTLER) REED, who died 5 May 1823, daughter of Nathaniel and Esther (Beard) Cutler of Wilmington, widow of Simeon Reed.

James inherited that part of his father's estate which was the homestead of his great-grandfather. Through his generosity to Colonel Loammi Baldwin he furnished from his apple tree the scions which produced the fruit eventually called the Baldwin Apple. His house is shown on the plan of Butters' Row as "one" (Butters, Butters Genealogy, opp. 15).

James marched on the Lexington Alarm, 19 April 1775 in Captain Timothy Walker's Company, Colonel Green's Regiment. He also marched on the alarm at Bedford and Falmouth, in Elijah Small's Company, Major Zenas Winslow's Regiment, September 1778 (ibid., 54, 55; Mass. Soldiers and Sailors, 2:966).

48. EBENEZER[5] JAQUITH (Ebenezer[4], Abraham[3-2-1]) was born at Wilmington, Massachusetts, 10 September 1742 and died 12 December 1814. He married in 1776 RUTH WRIGHT of Hollis, New Hampshire, who was born at Wilmington, 13 February 1751 and died 11 February 1825, daughter of Captain Joshua and Abigail (———) Wright. Joshua Wright came from Woburn, served as selectman at West Dunstable, and died 5 August 1776.

Ebenezer served in the Revolution in D. Emerson's Company in the expedition to Ticonderoga, 1775. His name is on the Hollis monument as one who responded to the Lexington Alarm, 19 April 1775. He was in the Battle of Bunker Hill, where he saw two men carry a litter of dirt for the earthworks; they set it down, and a British cannonball landed and turned it over, emptying out the dirt.

Ebenezer went to Hollis from Dunstable, Massachusetts, and paid taxes at Hollis, 1775. He then went to Washington, New Hampshire, a year or two later and held office in 1778. He lived on Stoddard Road, three-quarters of a mile south of Washington Center, later called the Darius G. Barnes residence (Town Committee, History of Washington, New Hampshire . . . 1768-1886 [Claremont, N.H., 1886], 489-492). In the 1790 census of Washington Ebenezer was listed as head of a household consisting of three males over sixteen, three males under sixteen, and three females. He was man of many excellent qualities and was one of the first deacons in the Washington Congregational Church, of which Reverend George Leslie was pastor.

55. JAMES[5] JAQUITH (Benjamin[4], Abraham[3-2-1]) was born at Wilmington, Massachusetts, 31 March 1745 and died July 1831, aged eighty-six. He married (1) at Billerica, Massachusetts, 2 February 1761 DOLLY[5] RICHARDSON, who was born at Billerica, 11 August 1749 and died 30 October 1808, aged fifty-one years, one month, eight days, daughter of Samuel[4] (Nathaniel[3], Thomas[2-1]) and Hannah (Walker) Richardson. James married (2) SARAH ———, who died at Wilmington, 29 May 1828, aged seventy-eight.

On 19 April 1775 James Jaquith marched to Lexington as sergeant of Captain Timothy Walker's Company of Militia, Colonel Green's Regiment. On 6 May 1776 he was commissioned as second lieutenant in Captain Cadwaller Ford's Seventh (Wilmington) Company, Second Middlesex County Regiment of Massachusetts Militia. The next year he served as second lieutenant in Captain Abraham Foster's Company, Colonel John Fox's Regiment, and was included in a list of "Men drafted to go to Bennington." This company marched to reinforce the army under General Gates. Lieutenant Jaquith was discharged from the Army in the northern department, 30 November 1777 and returned home. On 18 September 1779 he was commissioned as first lieutenant in Captain Joshua Harnden's Seventh Company, Colonel Fox's Second Middlesex County Regiment of Massachusetts Militia (Mass. Soldiers and Sailors, 8:722, 723). He was called "captain" in 1808.

In the 1790 census of Wilmington James was listed as head of a household consisting of three males over sixteen and four females.

James Jaquith, Gentleman of Wilmington, devised his entire estate to his two surviving daughters, Dolly Harnden and Hannah Buck (Middlesex Probate, 166:284).

She married (2) 13 August 1807 Benjamin Bacon of Bedford, Massachusetts.

Nathan served for seven days as a private in Captain Timothy Walker's Company, Colonel Green's Regiment, which marched to Lexington on the Alarm of 19 April 1775. He was among the men listed to relieve the guards at Prospect Hill for two months, dated 9 February 1775 (Mass. Soldiers and Sailors, 8:724).

On 9 March 1789 Nathan's widow Anne petitioned the court to appoint James[5] Jaquith of Wilmington, Gentleman, as the administrator of her late husband's estate (Middlesex Probate, 196:9). The inventory was taken 22 December 1789 and included a dwelling house, barn, and shop with sixty acres called the homestead; a half-right in three acres of meadow land in Billerica on the "Shawsin" River; and eight acres in Tewksbury (ibid., 73:175). His children Nathaniel, Alice, and James were put under the guardianship of Captain Samuel Hopkins of Wilmington on 5 May 1802 (ibid., 244:16, 17).

In the 1790 census of Wilmington, Anna Jaquith was listed as head of a household consisting of one male over sixteen, four males under sixteen, and four females.

83. REUBEN[6] JAQUITH (Benjamin[5], Abraham[4-3-2-1]) was born at Jaffrey, New Hampshire, 15 August 1783 and died at Wright's Corners, Dearborn County, Indiana, 6 December 1870. He married (1) at Hartland, Vermont, 22 November 1803 LUCY TUCKER, who was born at Boston, Massachusetts, 26 April 1778 and died at Wright's Corners, January 1839 or 26 October 1840. He married (2) MARY ———.

During the War of 1812, Reuben served in Crosby's Regiment, New York Volunteers, the same unit in which his brother Asa served. He moved to Wright's Corners, Indiana, about 1817, possibly as early as 1814. Reuben worked as a farmer and a cooper. At the time of the 1850 census he lived in the home of his son, General Sullivan Jaquith. The Lawrenceburg (Ind.) Press, dated 9 January 1868, wrote:

Reuben Jaquith, living at Wright's Corner, Dearborn County, Indiana, has attained the age of 86 years, perhaps the oldest man in the county. He emigrated from York State, as he calls it, in 1817 and has been a resident here ever since. He served in the War of 1812 and was a soldier while young. Now he cannot read without his glasses, and glasses are humbug. He is a constant reader of the Cincinnati Gazette and thinks that Colfax should be the next Governor, and that Johnson should be run out of the country and all the Rebs hung. He is the father of nine children, 6 now living.
He is the grandfather of 49 living children.
He is the great grandfather of 65 living children.
He is the great great grandfather to 1 child.
He has lost 21 grandchildren and great grandchildren, not counted in the above numbers.
Surely the old gentleman has fulfilled the scriptural injunction to multiply and replenish the earth.
And now on his ridge he still dodges about, making his own fires, feeding the stock, etc. Long live the old soldier.

Josiah's portrait is in Hazen's History of Billerica with a resume of his active life (59, 60). At age 11 he went to live with his uncle, attending the district school and working for his board. He spent 2 years, 1815-1817, with another uncle at Salisbury, N.H., 2 or 3 years in a country store, and a short time in Charlestown, Mass. In 1824 he became deputy sheriff of Middlesex County and settled at Lowell, holding office until 1830. From this time he became active in staging, owning largely in the lines from Lowell to Concord, and was a mail contractor between Boston and Montreal. He was a large contractor for the Ogdensburg railroad, and became president of the Northern New Hampshire Railroad in 1851. He resigned there in 1853 at the death of his brother, to assume the management of their extensive railroad contracts in Ohio. About 1860 he became agent of the Winnipesaukee Lake Cotton and Woolen Manufacturing Co. at Lake Village, N.H, and so remained for 12 years. In Lowell, 1826, he was active in building the Central Bridge and remained in the company until it was made free by the city. He was one of the incorporators and a director of the Old Lowell Bank in 1828; later he was a director of the Appleton Bank, of which he became president, and a director of the City Institution for Savings. For many years he held public office: 1835 he was a representative in the legislature, 1836–1842 a member of the Common Council, 1841 chief engineer of the fire department, 1844–1847 county commissioner, and 1849–1850 mayor of Lowell. He attended the Oneida Institute three years beginning in 1832, and several years subsequently he pursued a course of theological study and was ordained and installed over the Congregational church in Langdon, New Hampshire, in 1860. He was devoted to the duties and labors of his profession and was held in high esteem by his parish (Ezra Stearns, History of Ashburnham [Ashburnham, 1887], 513, 514)." Ch. (surname Jaquith): 1. Henry Warren, b. 5 Nov. 1844; d. at Washington, D.C., 13 Aug. 1864, from a combat wound; unm. Civil War pension list: Co.

A, 6th N.H. Inf., enl. Mar. 1862, mother's cert. 256907. When Andrew heard that his son's condition was critical he went to Washington to be with him. He stayed there until after Henry's burial at Arlington National Cemetery. While there he caught "camp fever," or dysentery, which caused his untimely death 2 weeks later. 2. Andrew Benjamin, b. at Mason, N.H., 16 May 1851; d. at St. James Hotel, Washington, D.C., 12 Apr. 1883, of consumption; m. 4 Mar. 1880 Clara C. Kelly of Wakefield; res. at N.Y. and Washington, D.C. At the time of his death he was a noted astrologer, called "Prof. George Greggs." The New York Times, 14 Apr. 1883, contained this story: "The Evening Star has the following, 'About three weeks ago a gentleman and a lady arrived at the St. James Hotel in this city and registered as Prof. Andrew B. Jaquitte and wife of N.Y. The gentleman was in the last stages of consumption, and had come here hoping to benefit from the milder climate. He sent for the Health Officer who attended him until yesterday when the death of the Professor occurred. Dr. Townshend says that the deceased was better known as Prof. Gregg, a noted astrologer of N.Y. He was born in N. Ashburnham, Mass., and from boyhood evinced a fondness for the 'science' of astrology. He studied diligently and became distinguished among those who believe that the stars, when properly read, reveal coming events. The late Professor had supplied about 20,000 persons with horoscopes. He calmly made all preparations for death and requested, the war regulations permitting, to be buried at Arlington, beside his brother, who died during the war, at 14th St. Hospital, of wounds received. As the rules prohibit the interment of civilians there, he will be buried in Glenwood tomorrow, the Rev. Dr. Rankin officiating. His own father was a minister. . . and I believe his mother was alive.' "

101. Asa[6] Jaquith (Adford[5-4], Abraham[3-2-1]) was born 25 February 1781, died 19 September 1860, and was buried in West Yard, Ashby, Massachusetts. 104. JAMES[6] BUTTERS (James[5], Abigail[4], Abraham[3-2-1]) was born at Wilmington, Massachusetts, 1 July 1777 and died there, intestate, 8 November 1831. He married at Wilmington, 13 December 1798 BETSY (CUTLER) BUTTERS, who died 1 May 1830, aged sixty-one, daughter of Nathaniel and Betsey (Bennett) Cutler and widow of Lieutenant Jesse Butters (a descendant of Sarah[4] Jaquith and Samuel Butters, see no. 11).

When a young man, James went to Cambridge, Massachusetts, where he was employed in market gardening. Upon the death of her husband Jesse, Betsy (Butler) Butters engaged James to take care of her farm. Their subsequent marriage brought James into possession of Samuel Butters's old homestead which had been handed to each succeeding generation and which at this time passed out of the ownership of the old family line. When Betsy (Cutler) (Butters) Butters died, a partition of the estate was made, and of her dower right the six children by her first husband and the four by her second marriage had equal shares. James left real and personal property valued at $2462.38 (Butters, Butters Genealogy, 76).

July 1805 ELEANOR STIMSON or STIMPSON, who was born at Reading, 16 May 1789 and died at Medford, 28 September 1875, daughter of Ebenezer and Esther (Hartshorn) Stimpson. Ebenezer Stimpson served in the Revolution, both in Governor John Brooks's Company of Minutemen from Reading, who marched on the Alarm of April 1775, and in the revolutionary army. Nathaniel Jaquith's father served in the same company of minutemen.

Nathaniel served in the War of 1812 in Kendall's Battalion, Massachusetts Militia, and at Fort Warren. His knapsack, blanket, and canteen are still preserved by the family. He received a common school education and learned the shoemaker's trade. In 1817, after his marriage, Nathaniel removed to Andover, where he lived for about two years before moving to Medford, where he engaged in ship building.

Nathaniel was a good man, foremost in every good work. He worked with zeal in the Temperance cause and in later years was a staunch advocate of the anti-slavery cause, when it was not popular to be an abolitionist. In his home the runaway slave always found shelter. One of his obituary notices says: "Deacon Jaquith was a devoted and unwavering follower of Christ, ardent and consistent in his efforts and prayers to hasten that day when the yoke of the oppressor shall be broken, when the prison doors shall be opened to them that are bound, and the oppressed go free." He was a deacon of the Orthodox Church for many years.

Luke was a stonemason during the week and a minister on Sundays. He moved to Maine in 1808 with brothers Ebenezer, aged nineteen, Collins, aged seventeen, and Asa, aged eleven, settling first at Vassalboro, then Kennebec County, then Palermo, Waldo County. The 1850 census lists in Luke's household: William Worthen, aged seventy-three, his wife, aged seventy-seven, their son William Kendall Worthen, aged forty, his wife Martha G. Martin Worthen, aged forty-five, their probable son Marshall Worthen, aged nineteen, and Jeanna Worthen, aged fifty.

162. COLLINS H.[7] JAQUITH (Jesse[6], Ebenezer[5], Abraham[4-3-2-1]) was born at Chester, Vermont, 11 August 1790 and died at Rochester, New York, 26 July 1878. He married 17 September 1816 MIRIAM BOND[6] POWERS, who was born at Peterboro, Vermont, 17 November 1795, daughter of Whitcomb[5] (Whitcomb[4], Peter[3], Daniel[2], Walter[1]) and Miriam (Bond) Powers.

Collins and Miriam resided at Gilsum and Keene, New Hampshire, where he had a shoe business. At Keene, Collins was a leader in the community and a deacon in the Congregational Church. He was president of the Library Society and on the committee for building the church meetinghouse. Through the dishonesty of the Saint Louis, Missouri, agent of his shoe business, Collins lost all his property. He and Miriam removed to Java, New York, soon after 1832, where he was listed with his family in the 1850 census (Hoosick, Rensselaer Co., N.Y., M432-585). Aaron Mansfield, later husband of Betsey Jaquith (no. 161), lived at Java several years and managed the farm for Collins before Aaron moved to Vermont.

Children:

i. ZIBA COLLINS[8], b. 1819; d. 17 Aug. 1838, aged 19 yrs. "at sea 3 days out from New Orleans" (Frank H. Whitcomb, comp., Vital Statistics of the Town of Keene, New Hampshire [Keene, 1905], 197).

Factory. In 1850 John Davison and 6 of his 8 ch. moved to Marshall Co., Ill., where they bought land warrants and entered land 8 mi. west of Minonk, calling their settlement Yankee Town. This was a short time before the land office was closed to give the Illinois Central Railroad alternate sections. The land warrants cost him $.65 per acre. A few years later, when asked how much he considered his land was worth, he said "Wal, I should want as many dollars an acre as I paid cents." John and Betsey Davison lived on their farm to a good old age, and were bur. in Yankee Town Cemetery. Henry returned east and res. at North Adams, Mass., where he m. (2) MARY A. 170. Sampson[7] Jaqueth (Benjamin[6-5], Abraham[4-3-2-1]) was born at Heath, Massachusetts, 21 February 1801, died at Liverpool, New York, 20 June 1874 and was buried in Liverpool Cemetery. [Note: Both Sampson and Joseph gave New York as their state of birth in the census, but they may have believed that Heath was in New York.] He married 11 January 1827 Louisa M. Agan or Eagan, who died 2 February 1865, aged fifty-nine, daughter of Patrick Eagan, a farmer of Watertown, New York.

Sampson and Louisa, who spelled their name Jaqueth, resided at Liverpool, and two of Louisa's sisters, Harriet (born at Watertown, 1817; died at Liverpool, 23 October 1861) and Emeline, lived with them. After Louisa's death Sampson's niece Julia, daughter of Joseph[7] Jaquith (no. 168) came to live with Sampson and his surviving daughter. In the 1835 census, Sampson's household lists "4 males, of whom none was subject to military duty [18-45]; 1 was entitled to vote; one was an alien [although it was not indicated that he was counted in the 4 males]; 4 females of whom one was married and under 45; 2 unmarried females 16-45; one marriage had taken place during the year preceding 1 June, where the bride was a member of the family. 1¼ acres of land, 2 neat cattle, 2 horses, 15 hogs."

Sampson and his brother Joseph, owners of the Salina Coarse and Fine Salt Company, were very prominent in the salt business at a time when Syracuse (then called Salina) was the leading source for salt in the country. Their production of salt during the Civil War was instrumental in the Union's victory. Sampson was on the assessment rolls of Liverpool, 1842–1844, assessed $1300 on lot number 31 for 55 kettles, and $800 on lot number 11 for 40 kettles. The Salt Museum on the waterfront of Lake Onondaga in Liverpool was built in 1933 around a chimney of one of the Jaqueths' salt refineries. Salt from Liverpool was transported through the Erie and Oswego Canals, and was an important part of the canal era. There was a decline in salt production when the tariff on foreign salt was reduced in 1873. By 1883, when the tolls on the Erie Canal were abolished, the railroad had moved in and canal boats were being pushed out of business.

The Jefferson County Book of Deeds, 2 January 1832 (H2:406) lists "Tobias and Clarissa McGuire of Adams, to Sampson Jaquith in the town of Adams, land in Adams in Lot number 54 for use of a Brewery and Distillery which said Jaquith may erect on said premises." In 1832 he sold seventy acres of land at Adams. At one time Sampson ran a distillery owned by the father of Mrs. B. Robert Spink, Town Historian of Watertown, 1975. Sampson was elected President of Liverpool Village until 1864, when his brother Joseph took over, and again after 1873.

Children, surname Jaqueth:

i. CHARLES CARROLL[8], b. 14 Apr. 1834; d. 10 July 1840, drowned in the Oswego Canal. This may be why Sampson's nephew Sampson, son of Abel, lived with this uncle for several years (see no. 167).

ii. CORNELIA L., b. 19 Oct. 1840; d. 10 July 1846 of croup, while visiting relatives at Worthington, Mass. (Worthington church records).

288. iii. FRANCES ELIZABETH, b. at Liverpool, 12 Dec. 1842.

171. BENJAMIN[7] JAQUITH (Benjamin[6-5], Abraham[4-3-2-1]) was born 6 June 1806, died 15 October 1840, and was buried at Sycamore, Ohio. He married ELMIRA SCHOFIELD. They resided, at least for a while, in St. Lawrence County, New York.

Child:

299. i. PHOEBE JANE[8], b. 30 Mar. 1837.

172. PHEBE[7] JAQUITH (Benjamin[6-5], Abraham[4-3-2-1]) was born 11 March 1807 and died 13 or 30 August 1887. She married in Jefferson County, New York, 11 January 1827 JOEL LAMON, who was born 3 September 1805 and died 22 October 1875, son of Francis and Philena

(Crane) Lamon. Francis was born 1775 and died 1862, a farmer on Dry Hill, Rodman, New York. He married at Bridgewater, Oneida County, New York, Philena Crane, who was born 1779 and died at Watertown, New York, 1844.

Joel and Phebe had a farm on Dry Hill, Rodman, which they sold after 1834 when they moved to Ohio. Joel was a justice of the peace as well as a farmer. He received 160 acres for his share for war service from the Bounty Land and Pension Service, Columbus, Ohio. He had to have served a minimum of fourteen days to be eligible. Joel's and Phebe's house still stands, a few miles southeast of Sycamore, Ohio.

Joel and Phebe had six daughters, of whom Joel was very proud, but he was resentful that his two sons died at an early age. He did not feel that any of his sons-in-law was good enough for his daughters, although all six were fine men, so he remembered only the daughters in his will. His will was very unusual, and it proved to be unbreakable. He divided his 240 acres specifically for each daughter, stipulating that only their heirs could sell the land, thereby excluding the husbands.

Children, surname Lamon:

300. i. CHARLOTTE[8], b. at Watertown, 1828.
301. ii. LAURA, b. at Watertown, N.Y., 8 Feb. 1832.
302. iii. LETITIA EZELDA, b. 20 July 1834.

305. vi. ALICE, b. 22 Aug. 1847.
vii. ORLANDO, d.y.; was aged 19 in the 1860 census.
viii. DICK, d.y.; was injured in a fall, aged 12.

173. JOHN WOOD[7] JAQUITH (Isaac[6], Benjamin[5], Abraham[4-3-2-1]) was born 11 December 1802, died at Neenah, Wisconsin, 26 June 1872, and was buried in Greenwood Cemetery, Neenah. He married 11 January 1830 MARY CORTINAS HENDERSON, who was born at Cambridge, Washington County, New York, 27 September 1805 and died at Williamstown, New York, while visiting her sister, 17 October 1878, daughter of Peter and Nancy Agnes (Laidlaw) Henderson.

John and Mary resided at Hartland, Vermont, Salmon River, New York, and Sandbank, New York and moved from Sand Bank to Neenah, Wisconsin, in 1866. John was a farmer (Williams, "The Jaquith Family," 41).

174. Jefferson H.[7] Jaquith (Isaac[6], Benjamin[5], Abraham[4-3-2-1]) was born in Vermont, 17 July 1807 and died at Freeland, Michigan, 22 November 1870. He married either 8 March 1831 or 23 July 1827 (family records) Sarah Wood, who was born in New Hampshire, 23 July 1810 and died 24 October 1870.

Jefferson and Sarah were pioneers of Michigan, one of the first three families in Tittabawassee Township, Saginaw County, March 1836. Jefferson had an inn that was a coach stop for change of horses and rest on the Mackinaw Trail. With no good roads and only a few beaten trails through the pine forest the Tittabawasee River provided the main artery of travel. Groceries were brought from Saginaw on steamboats, and lumberjacks and rivermen travelled the same way.

The town of Freeland had a Rouse and Dennison lumber mill and an E.A. Guide & Company hoop and stave mill. "Mammy" Freeland had an eating place and hotel-tavern in the second settlement, which later took its name from her. The tremendous stands of pine along the river were the first to be cleared by the lumbermen's axes, but the river remained a great artery for logs from the upper reaches of tributaries.

Jefferson was chosen one of five electors to organize the Township of Tittabawasse on 4 April 1841. He was a farmer with about 100 acres, and the operator of a general store, the post office (called Jay, Michigan), and the Tittabawasee ferry. The post office, no longer operative, was named for him. Jefferson had planned to develop the town of Loretta from the first settlement of cabins, but the plan was not completed before the railroad came into Freeland and the post office changed.

The family cemetery, one mile south of Freeland, is now in the center of a huge lilac thicket, protected from public view and vandalism. It is thought that Jefferson's family suffered from consumption, for they were all frail and coughed a lot.

Children:

i. Frances H.[8], b. 7 July 1834; d. 1 Nov. 1843.

ii. Julia Ann, b. in Michigan, 21 Aug. 1836; d. 3 Dec. 1864 (gravestone); m. at Tittabawasee, 21 June 1855 John G. Wickham. Ch. (surname Wickham): 1. Charlisi, d. 20 Oct. 1858, aged 12 days. 2. Josephine, 3. son (prob.), bur. in the family plot.

He married in New York, 8 October 1835 Lucy Grant, who was born in New York State, 26 April 1817, died 29 January 1905, and was buried with Sullivan in the old Baptist burial ground, Wright's Corners, daughter of Abram and Elizabeth (Carrier) Grant. Elizabeth was Abram's third wife. He died, and she married (2) Philander Russell. Their son, Roswell, married Sullivan's sister Emeline[7] Jaquith (see no. 83).

The History of Dearborn and Ohio Counties, Indiana (Chicago, 1885)

At quite an early period in Manchester Township history there stood at the graveyard in the rear of the [Mrs. General Sullivan] Jaquith property at Wright's Corners a log church, the property of the Old School Baptists which was used for many years for church purposes; school was also taught in it. The building was torn down forty years ago [circa 1845]; it stood on the site of the barn of Mrs. Lucy Jaquith. Elder Zacheus Palmer officiated as minister for years; the place of burial is perhaps as old as was the house of worship . . . Just north of Wright's Corners stands a frame church building which has long been occupied by a congregation called Providence Free Will Baptist Church. The organization was affected in the summer of 1838 by Reverend Cyrus Dudley of Ohio who upon invitation came here and held a series of meetings in a carpenter shop near Wright's Corners. These meetings continued for six weeks and resulted in the organization of the society July 28, 1838. Elders Morgan and Curtis of the Old School Church were both present and assisted, and it is said the name Providence was given by Morgan. Some of the original members included: G.S. Jaquith, Lucy Jaquith, Lucy Jaquith, Sr., Harriet Jaquith, R. Russell and wife [she was a Jaquith], Mrs. Vaughn, Abbie Owen. Reverend Cyrus served the congregation several years. Other pastors were Samuel Hathorn and J.F. Tufts. Their first house of worship was a frame structure, built circa 1840. It was destroyed by fire and replaced by the present [1885] one. Congregation now [1885] is without pastor and no regular services.

210. WALTER T.[7] JAQUITH (Ebenezer[6-5-4], Abraham[3-2-1]), also known as TIMOTHY W., was born at Washington, New Hampshire, 6 September 1818 and died at Milford, Kansas, 17 January 1878. He married (1) 31 August 1842 SARAH LANCASTER of Milford, who died 9 October 1846, aged twenty-seven, daughter of Joseph and Mary (Gutterson) Lancaster. He married (2) at Lockport, New York, 1849 ABBE WHITING, who died at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, 24 May 1859. Walter married (3) 26 December 1866 MARY W. or MARY H. WHITING, who was born in Vermont and died at Carmel, California, 2 March 1927, aged eighty-nine (state cert. no. 14419).

Walter was a cotton manufacturer. Mary was an invalid and resided with her son Charles at Carmel for twenty years.

Walter T. may have had another wife, before Sarah Lancaster, for there is a "Walter T. Jaquith," born in California, listed in the 1880 California Soundex, as well as the Alameda County, California, 1870 census, who was "named for his grandfather." If this was the case, then his children are as listed below.

Child by possible first marriage:

347. i. WILLIAM KINGSBURY[8], b. 1835 or 1837.

Children by Sarah Lancaster:

ii. CHILD, d.y.
iii. CHILD, d.y.

Children by Abbe Whiting:

iv. DORA EMILY, b. at Holyoke, Mass., 21 June 1856; d. at Laurel, Ore., Oct. 1946; unm.; also res. at Toledo, Ohio. Dora did much work on the Jaquith genealogy, and was employed in a large printing office, the Toledo Blade. She did research in New England on the family, as well as in England. Apparently she burned most of her research papers when she was 90. In the family records is a note of hers: "Historical Memoranda by Dora Emily Jaquith. During the religious persecutions in Europe in the 17th century, three brothers by the name of Jaques, Huguenots, came over from France and settled in the colony of Massachusetts. In time they dropped the French termination of their name and instead of Jaques spelled it Jaquith. . ." In a letter dated 18 Jan. 1900, written to her brother Walter, Dora wrote: "At the library the other day, I chanced to pick up a book, Beside Old Hearthstones, and catching sight of our great-grandfather's name I read on and found that he was one of those who responded to the call of April 18, 1775, when the battle of Concord was fought. He was living at Hollis at that time, so they could scarcely get there in time for the skirmish at Lexington, but they were encamped at Cambridge some three months, and probably took part in the battle of Bunker Hill. A monument has been erected in Hollis to the memory of those who responded to this call, and our great-grandfather's name is on it. I think Papa told me about this, with the exception of the monument, which has been erected since, but it did not make so much of an impression on me as his description of his uncle, Silas Rice, crossing the Delaware with Washington when cakes of ice were running in the river. Mama has been trying to look up genealogical matters in the Lenox Library during her stay in New York City, but either they do not have very good facilities or she does not know how to use them. She sent me a mass of names and figures relating to collateral branches of the family in which I am not particularly interested, as I have traced our line direct to Abraham Jaquith of Charlestown, Mass., in 1643."

348. v. WALTER WHITING, b. at Pittsburgh, Pa., 24 Aug. 1858.

Children by Mary Whiting:

vi. RACHEL, b. at Allegheny, Penn.; d.y.

vii. ANNA L., b. at Milford; d.y.

viii. CHARLES A. P., b. at Milford, 23 Apr. 1872; d. at Salinas, Calif., 16 Oct. 1947; m. SARAH ALICE RUSSELL, b. ca. 1864, d. 1952; res. at San Francisco, Calif., 1884–1885, and 1887, and at Carmel for 41 years. Charles was a carpenter, employed at the Truckee Mfg. & Box Co. Sarah was a physician. Apparently no ch.

211. JOSIAH[7] JAQUITH (Josiah[6], William[5], Ebenezer[4], Abraham[3-2-1]) was born at Hartland, Vermont, 26 January 1803 and died in Medina County, Ohio, 30 July 1842. He married at Berkshire, Vermont, NANCY ———, who was born in Vermont.

Josiah and Nancy resided at Berkshire and St. Albans, Vermont, then moved to Ohio, locating on his father's farm. They made the trip in true pioneer style, with ox teams, taking six weeks to complete the trip. They made potash for a living and hauled it through the woods to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

In his will, Josiah advises his wife to have finished the buildings he has started and to have the house and store painted white. She should have the ashes in his ashery made into potash, sell it, and apply the money to debts in Pittsburgh. He counsels that the ashery be sold and that wife Nancy and his friend Horace Gibbs should "compromise, adjust, release and discharge all debts and claims due him this 28 day of July 1842."

In 1831 Josiah had received the west half of his father's property. Josiah, Sr., had purchased the farm for three dollars an acre — now the most valuable land in Medina County. They set out orchards, the first in the county. In the 1850 census, three children and "Margaret" were with Nancy (William B. Doyle, Centennial History of Summit County, Ohio [Chicago, 1908]).

Children:

349. i. WILLIAM HENRY[8], b. at Berkshire, Vt., 6 July 1827 (Vital Records).
ii. REBECCA ABIGAIL, b. at Berkshire, 3 March 1830 (ibid.); res. with her mother at Sharon Twp., Medina Co., in 1850 and 1860 censuses.
iii. CHARLES WESLEY, b. in Ohio, 1834.

212. THOMAS ROGERS[7] JAQUITH (Josiah[6], William[5], Ebenezer[4], Abraham[3-2-1]) was born at Berkshire, Vermont, 6 October 1827 and died in Mecosta County, Michigan, 8 May 1885, of nerve prostration (Mecosta Co. Clerk's Office, Death Records, no. 2161). He married (1) at Bryan, Ohio, 6 May 1849 SYLVIA LLOYD, who was born circa 1832 and died before 1860, daughter of Martin and Mercy (———) Lloyd. He married (2) SARAH DIANTHA (GOOD) LLOYD, who was born in Richland County, Ohio, 1835, died at Big Rapids, Michigan, 30 March 1917, and was buried in Highland View Cemetery, daughter of Jacob and Sarah (Jordan) Good and widow of Homer Lloyd.

Thomas is found in the 1840 census, Williams County, Ohio, in the household of Martin and Mercy Lloyd. Two children had left—Homer and Hannah Lloyd—and three remained—Maria, Sylvia, and Elijah. In the 1850 census Thomas and Sylvia had their own household, with a young son, Albert. Thomas is called a farmer. In the 1860 census, Williams County, Ohio, Thomas "Jaques," aged thirty-one, is a shoemaker, with daughter Rosella, aged six, and his mother, Miranda, aged sixty-two, keeping house. In 1874, they were employed to operate the Mecosta County Poor Farm, north of Grand Rapids. In the 1880 Soundex for Michigan, Barton Township, Newaygo County, Thomas's household consisted of himself, wife Sarah, daughter Alta, and son Charles Orville.

It appears that Thomas and Sarah were not on good terms, for at his death he resided at Wheatland Township, she resided at Newago, Barton Township. The region was very prosperous at the time, because of lumber, so Thomas should have been well off. Family land was changed into Sarah's and Orra's names and to Thomas's alone, where it had been jointly Thomas's and Sarah's (Mecosta County Probate Papers). His property ended at a sheriff's sale, which probably contributed to his death.

Thomas became very religious after his arrival in Michigan, getting involved with the Wheatland Church of Christ, also called Disciples of Jesus Christ Church. This was soon after the Civil War, when many black people came north after gaining freedom. The Wheatland Church of Christ had an all black congregation, and Thomas is found to have preached on various occasions there in a five month period between 4 May 1884 and 9 November 1884.

Children by first marriage:

i. ALBERT[8], b. at Centre Township, Ohio, 1850.

ii. LETITIA, b. ca. 1851; m. CHARLES KLINE. Letitia is mentioned in Thomas's land records.

iii. ROSELLA, b. at Centre Township, 1853; d. 8 Mar. 1872; m. at Big Rapids, Mich., 6 June 1869 JOSEPH C. CLINE, b. in Chenango Co., N.Y., ca. 1839, d. 1924; both are bur. in West Cemetery, Green Twp., Paris, Mich. There are two small stones near theirs—one says "Joe" and the other name is worn away. Joseph was a farmer, served in the Civil War, Co. D, 20th N.Y. Cav. (gravestone). Ch. (surname Cline): 1. infant, d.y. 2. infant, d.y.

Children by second marriage:

350. iv. ALTA ARMINTHA, b. 1 Apr. 1862.

He married at Derry or Londonderry, New Hampshire, 27 December 1827 MERINDA or REBECCA or SARAH C. TARBOX (Derry Book of Records; Thomas's pension record says Londonderry, Vermont. The towns are five miles apart, in the same county).

Children:

Bent, who was born at Annapolis Royal, Nova Scotia, 22 September 1869 and died at Lynn, 2 January 1911, daughter of Daniel Wade and Elizabeth (Oliver) Bent.

Henry was a machinist who learned his trade at Manchester, New Hampshire. He worked for General Electric, setting up incoming machines and turbines. When he died his ashes were scattered on Vineyard Hill at his request because, as his daughter Ida noted, "the family had such good times there. We had a summer cottage in 'Ashbury Grove,' Hamilton, Mass. This was a Methodist campground.

"The day after school closed, the family packed up the extras—a barrel of bedclothes, a beautiful collie named 'Fleet,' a phonograph and a big brass horn and away we went for the summer. It was sixteen miles to Lynn but father rode down often on his bicycle. He loved that part of the country and roamed around on his bicycle as well as on foot. The beautiful hill was usually his destination.

"After he had 'gone' we children would go there with our lunch and enjoy the spot as he had asked us to do.

"I believe the hill and the surrounding land belong to the General Patton Estate now."

226. REBECCA[7] REYNOLDS (Rebecca[6], Samuel[5], Benjamin[4], Abraham[3-2-1]) was born in Hillsboro County, New Hampshire, 23 May 1808 and died at Harrisville, now Lodi, Ohio, 2 February 1877. She married 26 March 1833 SHERWOOD HANMER[7] PALMER, who was born at Glens Falls, Warren County, New York, 23 May 1811 and died at Lodi, March 1883, son of Hanmer[6] (Gabriel[5], James[4], David[3], James[2], William[1]) and Deborah (Lewis) Palmer, a Quaker, of Sherwood County, New York.

When Sherwood and his father went to Westfield, they had to cut their way through the unbroken forest. Labor was hard and the pay was low. Sherwood worked on public works for a while, cutting and clearing timber, for which he received twenty-seven and a half cents a day to $12.50 a month. Sherwood was a devoted member of the Masonic Fraternity and a Royal Arch Mason, as was his father. He was also a staunch Democrat. The History of Medina County, Ohio (Chicago, 1881) pages 596-600, leaves this account of the Palmer family:

Hanmer Palmer of Westfield, age 89, living with his son, Sherwood H., is one of three pioneer settlers left. He lived to be 93 in 1871. He came from N.Y. to Akron, Ohio, Nov. 18, 1816, then on April 2, 1817 Palmer and Mallory came with their families. He purchased 340 acres; was a Trustee of the Twp. of Westfield in 1820. All of these settlers were poor, many simply owned an ax, or two or three farm or household utensils. Land sold for about $3.00 per acre and in many cases the purchasers were unable to pay for the property for years after possession. In every household domestic economy was practiced in its severest form. Money was a curiosity; there was not enough of it in the township to warrant its use as a medium of exchange. Edibles and commodities were to be had in towns in trade for grain. The labors of men were not a whit more severe or multifarious than were the different forms of work undertaken by women. In those days every wife deserved and wore with pride, the title of "help-meet" to her husband. Added to ordinary labors incident to housekeeping which she performed as a matter of course, she made clothing for members of her family, males as well as females. The manufacture of woolen and linen fabrics, making them into dresses, shirts, coats and pantaloons were duties which received strict attention each succeeding year and as regularly and surely as old clothes wore out. Boots and shoes were luxuries. Even young men and women seventeen and eighteen years old went barefoot to church and school in 1818-1828. When a daughter of pioneers wanted to attend a merrymaking or dance, she took to the store a quantity of linen, made by her own hands and exchanged it for calico, from which she cut her dress for the occasion. Charlotte, Jane and Sherwood Palmer attended school held in houses or in the town hall in 1818-1819. Hanmer Palmer recalls a night which he wouldn't care to relive again. He was going through the forest to visit his old friend, following 'blazes' on the trees along lot lines. It became dark and he lost his way. He shouted and shot when he thought he was near the house. The friend heard the noise, but thinking an attack was imminent, barricaded doors and expected the worst. Hanmer spent the night in the forest, without sleep, made a circle of blazing fires around him and was kept awake by the need of feeding the fires and also his dread of Indians and wolves.

He married (1) 5 January 1839 Charlotte Curtis of Brownville, Maine, who died 28 February 1849. He married (2) 22 July 1851 Mary Jane Moors, who was born in northern Maine, 1 October 1825, died at Milo, 16 April 1862, of consumption, and was buried with Seth in Evergreen Cemetery, Milo.

In the 1850 census, taken at Brownville, 21 August 1850, Seth was a farmer with no wife or children. An English family, Edward Wilson, his wife, and children, lived with him and helped in the house and farm. He removed to Milo when he married Mary Jane, who was a socialite from Halifax.

Near the end of Seth's life, Mary Jane wrote in a letter to Seth's sister that Seth had been ill for several years and couldn't leave the house the last month. He hoped that his brothers and sisters would come to see him and his three pretty children before he died. Seth suffered so much that he was ready to go, except he knew they would have to give the children away because of Mary Jane's failing health. He knew a farmer, in Brownville, Simeon A. Stickney, who would be a fine man to bring up his son. Before Seth died he gave his four-year-old son to the Stickneys. Seth is found in the 1860 census, Brownville, with Simeon A. Stickney, aged fifty-two, his wife Sarah W., aged fifty-two, and their four children: Harriet A., aged twenty-four and a teacher of music; Enos N., aged twenty-two, a teacher at commercial school; Almira F., aged nineteen; and Almeda G., aged seventeen. Seth Ambrose was aged five.

The following is quoted from letters written by Cousin Rebecca Berry to Christine Jaquith Withers in May and September 1926:

I am sending a tintype of your father, "Ambrose," as he was called in Brownsville (he was called Seth for his father and Ambrose for his uncle). He gave it to me in 1867, when he was living with the Stickney family. I shall also send a letter from your grandmother, Mary Jane, wife of my Uncle Seth. It was written after his death, 11 Dec. 1859, and she enclosed a lock of his hair. I do not remember your grandparents because my mother and I left Brownsville when I was two years old. Cousin Cynthia Hill remembers them well. Your grandmother had the loveliest golden-brown hair and lots of it. I shall send the daguerreotypes of your grandparents. I'm sure you'd like to keep them. I'll name some of the early generations of Jaquiths. We had many men and boys at Lexington. In histories our family was "looked up to" as being upright and moral.

I visited at Litchfield, Maine, where your grandfather was born, Seth and my mother, his sister, Sarah, their sister, Hulda, and all of the older ones. We went to see the Jaquith Bridge, where we played as children. It is between Litchfield and Gardiner, Maine, and was built by my great-grandfather [Abraham[6]] Jaquith and my grandfather [Isaac[7]]. We saw the old farmhouse now called Allard Farm, known twenty years ago as Jaquith Farm. The Jaquiths went to Brownville about 1826.

I keep thinking about things I can tell you about early ones in your family. I ask others, too, and find that I remember more than they. A poem comes to my mind about a forest fire. It was written by an eye witness. Maine has had so many forest fires but this one was by far the worst.

In the year of 1825 (October 7th, I think) there was a forest fire that started in the northern part of Maine. It started in the Merrimachi, pronounced Merry-May-She, extended 100 miles, and was several miles in width. It swept away whole villages in its path and many lives were lost. It was the largest fire known in those days.

In the path of this fire there was a young woman who had given birth to a little daughter just 6 days before. She found the flames coming nearer and with others rushed to the river in which they stood for hours. She had grabbed her "calash" as they left the house (a woman's folding bonnet or hood, fashionable in the eighteenth century). It was a roomy, collapsing affair, so the mother put the baby in it and stood in the water all day. Others were throwing water over them and each other. The heat was so intense, and burning cinders were flying, but her life and the life of the baby were saved.

Now, here is the interesting part. That baby was Mary Jane Moors, who married Seth Jaquith in 1851. When you look at your grandmother's picture, remember that she lived through the great Merrimachi fire. Think of what your great-grandmother must have suffered, standing to her waist in that water and holding her baby from the flames. They say that she did not take cold, the water was so warm. This baby is the one who grew up to have the lovely hair, all wavy and crinkly with the reddish-brown color in it. Your Cousin, Sarah "Rebecca" Berry.

Children, born at Milo:

i. HULDAH JANE[9], b. Aug. 1852; d. at Brownville, 1863; bur. in the Morrill family lot, Sebec, Me. Mary Jane gave her to the Morrill family in Sebec in the spring of 1860. Huldah Jane was a beautiful child, and the Morrills adored her. She had always to use a crutch but kept her sweet disposition and was very lovable. When Huldah first went to school another child pushed her off the school steps and her hip was dislocated, hence the crutch. Her mother said she was smart, because at 8 yrs. of age she was reading in the 4th reader. When she died of diptheria the Morrill family mourned her loss. Sarah Rebecca Berry saw her grave (letter from Rebecca Berry to Christine Jaquith Withers, 1926).

386. ii. SETH AMBROSE, b. 19 Aug. 1854.

iii. HATTIE ELMIRA, b. Nov. 1857; d. 1877 of consumption; m. 1877. It is not known what family raised her (ibid.).

245. CHARLES ABRAHAM[8] or ABRAHAM C. JAQUITH (Isaac[7], Abraham[6-5-4-3-2-1]) was born in Maine, 1 March 1818 and died 2 March 1895. He married 5 April 1860 MARY CAROLINE STRATTON of Oconomowoc, Wisconsin, who was born in New York, 14 January 1840 and died 19 May 1919.

Charles was a farmer in his native state, then went to Wisconsin in 1847 and bought a farm from Ogilivie Brothers about 1859. The farm was located in the town of Sullivan, Jefferson County, and lay on one of the old Indian trails from Waukesha to Fort Atkinson. After spending five years as a miner in California he returned to Sullivan. All eight of his children were born on this farm and grew up at Oak Hill. Later his grandson Charles Henry Jaquith ran the farm.

Charles's son, Alva O. Jaquith, took the following extracts from a book written by David Cartwright on his trip to California in 1852 (by courtesy of Josephine Turner):

In the early spring of 1852 a company of thirty-three men, all residents of southern Wisconsin, twenty-one of whom were residents of Sullivan, Jefferson County, Wisconsin, set out for California. David Cartwright, Colonel Miles Homes and John Nutter were chosen as the leaders of the company and were to receive $200 from each man for getting them to California. In this company we find Charles Hibbard, Abram Balsar, Stephen Davenport and small son, Charles Dunning, Charles A. Jaquith, George Jaquith, Phineas T. Jaquith and Henry Torry. I do not know the names of the other ten men that went in the company.

They had four ox teams, one horse team, and one saddle horse. Everyone had to walk unless he was sick and could not walk. The first day out they were joined by a company from Cold Spring and one from Lake Mills which added to the number twelve men, nine yoke of oxen and one horse.

They left David Cartwright's house, about sixty rods north of the Maple Grove Schoolhouse on the corner (since burned down) on the east side of the road (now no. 135). They started March 11, 1852. It took them just a few days less than five months to make the trip to California.

The three Jaquith boys all came back to Wisconsin; Uncle George N. later returned west and we think he was killed by the Indians. My father and Uncle Phineas bought land in Sullivan township and remained here all of their lives.

Children, born at Sullivan, Wisconsin:

i. HELEN STRATTON[9], b. 9 Jan. 1861; d. 18 June 1937; unm.; res. at the farm with her mother. Helen was a careful genealogist and corresponded with Reuben Clark Jaquith and Dora E. Jaquith, who were also interested.

247. Esther N.[8] Jaquith (Isaac[7], Abraham[6-5-4-3-2-1]) was born at Litchfield, Maine, 23 March 1824 and died at the home of her son Joseph, Germantown, Wisconsin, 10 February 1899. She married (1) at Bangor, Maine, 13 December 1848 Joseph Addison Noyes of Bangor, who was born at Turner, Maine, 24 December 1827 and died at St. Charles, Minnesota, 6 August 1868, struck by lightning. She married (2) as his third wife at New Lisbon, Wisconsin, 31 August 1874 William G. Lothrop, who was born at Leeds, Maine, 11 April 1817, died at Mauston, Wisconsin, 9 April 1888, and was buried with Esther in the Mauston Cemetery. William had married (1) at Mauston, 6 July 1865 Mary (Jaquith) Randall (see no. 143), and (2) Jane ———. He is listed in the 1860 census of Germantown with Jane as his wife and with eight children. Esther's first husband Joseph had served in the Civil War.

Children by first marriage, surname Noyes:

248. PHINEAS TOLMAN[8] JAQUITH (Isaac[7], Abraham[6-5-4-3-2-1]) was born at Brownville, Maine, 10 March 1832 and died at Palmyra, Wisconsin, 6 April 1902. He married (1) at Sullivan, 15 April 1860 SARAH JANE DRAKE, who was born at Palmyra, 20 April 1841, died there, 6 April 1875 (gravestone says 5 April 1876), and was buried in Pleasant Valley Cemetery, Oak Hill, Palmyra. He married (2) at Whitewater, Wisconsin, 8 February 1877 SARAH LOUISA EARLE, also called SARAH LOUISE WASHBURN, after the people who raised her, who was born at Pompey, Onondaga County, New York, 20 April 1841 or 7 November 1840, died at Whitewater, 15 January 1916, and was buried at Indus Township, Koochiching County, Minnesota (death certificate), daughter of Caleb McIntyre and Malvina (Stedman) Earle of Whitewater.

In 1850 Phineas went to California for many years, then returned to Wisconsin, bought a farm, and married. During the Civil War, Phineas was in Company E, First Wisconsin Heavy Artillery, and served three years (WC 543 648). In the Army he contracted the disease which eventually caused his death. He was a member of the Bible Christian Church and for several years devoted himself to the ministry in the Free Will Baptist Church. His last charge was Nikimi, near Oshkosh, Wisconsin. Upon his return to Palmyra he united with the Congregational Church until his death. He was liberal in Church causes and every good cause, an honest, good, and loyal neighbor. He was a staunch temperance man and utterly patriotic.

Hampshire, 30 November 1913, and was buried in Pine Ridge Cemetery, Hancock. He married at Hancock, 8 April 1856 EMILY WILDER, who was born there, died there, 10 May 1893, aged fifty-seven years, eleven months, and four days, and was buried there, daughter of Joseph and Malinda (Dane) Wilder.

Albert was a skillful carpenter who came to Hancock, 1842. He built the first slated bridge in town, the slate obtained at Castleton, Vermont, and the freight from Keene, New Hampshire, amounting to more than the cost of the slate (Hayward, History of Hancock). He was a member of the Congregational Church and active in church affairs. He was a delegate to the Congregational Church at Fitzwilliam. When the steeple of the church needed repairs he forced a pine tree inside the steeple so it could be repaired without being removed. He also built the grandstand for the Hancock Centennial.

Albert was always interested in military affairs. When a boy, he manufactured wooden guns, organized a company, and had it trained. On 8 November 1874 a legal meeting of the town selectmen was called by Albert Jaquith and ten others. The selectmen were instructed to select and stake out a suitable piece of land belonging to the town, on which to build an armory to be used by Section B of the New Hampshire Battery of Volunteer Militia. On 13 November 1880, another resolution by Albert Jaquith was adopted. This was concerning the matter of the town accepting an American flag given by absent sons and citizens of Hancock. It was decided that the flag would be used on public days and be kept by the officers of the town as a token of high respect. In addition, a memento was made with the names of the donors (ibid.). Albert received a commission as second lieutenant from Governor Martin and later had command of H Battery, Hancock Light Artillery.

[Note: the author has in his possession a book, The Master Key to Popery or The Great Red Dragon, with Albert Jaquith's name inscribed on the fly leaf, dated 27 December 1858.]

Children, born at Hancock:

410. i. WALTER A.[9], b. 27 Mar. 1857.

258. MARY FRANCES[8] JAQUITH (Luke[7], Ebenezer[6-5], Abraham[4-3-2-1]) was born at Branch Mills (part of Palermo), Maine, 2 January 1827 and died at Excelsior, Minnesota, 10 March 1908. She married (1) circa 1849 HUMPHREY THOMAS, who went to California during the Gold Rush and died there. She married (2) 1853 WINSLOW BAKER, who was born at Palermo, 9 August 1826 and died at Minnetonka Mills, Minnesota, 28 June 1881, son of Zachariah Baker and brother of William Baker, who married Harriet[8] Jaquith, daughter of Collins[7] Jaquith (no. 149). Mary married (3) at Palermo, 25 May 1889 THEODORE OSGOOD, who was born 1820, died 18 March 1906, and was buried in Smith Cemetery, North Palermo. This was drawn from a letter to Reuben Clark Jaquith from

Amanda Sarah [Jaquith] Wade, which stated that "After Theodore Osgood's death, Mary stayed with us about four months, until the estate was settled. Then my husband [James Wade] accompanied her to Minnesota to live with sons John M. and Walter C. I just had a letter from John's wife Jennie [M. Hopkins] last week."

Mary's second husband Winslow resided at Richmond, Maine, 1869, then removed that year first to Minneapolis, Minnesota, then to Minnetonka Mills. There he built one of the best houses in Hennepin County, using two-by-sixes instead of two-by-fours for the frame. Dana W. Frear's father dug the basement for this house with a team of oxen [Frear was the Hennepin County Historian]. The house was on Baker Road, named for Winslow by his neighbors. Winslow was Minnetonka supervisor, 1873–1879.

338. CALEB HARTWELL[8] JAQUITH (John[7], Asa[6], Adford[5-4], Abraham[3-2-1]) was born at Ashby, Massachusetts, 31 January 1851, died at his home in Woburn, Massachusetts, 4 February 1943, and was buried in Woodbrook Cemetery, Woburn. He married (1) at Ashby, 27 November 1872 MARY ELIZA DAVIS, who was born at Ashby, 30 August 1849, died at Boston, Massachusetts, 20 December 1903, and was buried in Woodbrook Cemetery, daughter of John and Eliza Ann (Taylor) Davis. Mary was a teacher. He married (2) 21 December 1907 LYLIE PERHAM FOWLE of Woburn, who was born 6 August 1876, died at Winchester, Massachusetts, Hospital, 21 June 1966, and was buried in Woodbrook Cemetery, daughter of George E. and Eliza F. (Caldwell) Fowle.

Caleb personally owned and directed Jaquith and Company, an institution in Woburn in the horse-and-buggy days and one industry that was able to withstand the rapid transition into the automotive stage. The company was still owned and operated by his son Adford[9] in 1976. When Caleb was a young man he looked for work in a lumber camp of Milford, New Hampshire, owned by an uncle who took an interest in him. After the Civil War he persuaded his father to sell the farm at Ashby and make his home in Milford. As a young man he worked in a grain mill and gained a knowledge of dressing the grinders, the heavy stones used in grinding the corn. These services brought him to Woburn where he was employed in the elevator and grain mill of L. B. Norris on Main Street. In 1876 he decided to live in Woburn. Jacob Ham bought the mill property and Caleb continued to work there. A few years later he was informed of a teamster's job at the tannery of Bryant and King. Caleb agreed to handle shipments of leather from the Bryant and King factory to the salesroom in Boston. He made daily trips to Boston driving a four-horse hitch, the hours long, the loads heavy, to Boston, and the return pickups of hides at the Charlestown wharfs were very large. The teaming business was his own, and he also did trucking for Julius Ramsdell. Shipments of hides came to Boston from the Tennessee tannery of that firm, and the leather was finished at Woburn.

The express business was taken over by his son, John, and Caleb again became affiliated with the grain business at Woburn, locating first in the Dow block and in the 1920s changing to High Street.

In addition to his duties at the office in Woburn, Caleb became a member in 1914 of the firm of Jaquith, Parker, Smith, and Company, wholesale grain merchants with an office in the Grain Exchange Building, 177 Milk Street, Boston. The company dissolved in 1928, after which time he gave his attention to the Woburn office. He had been a grain dealer and flour merchant since 1885 and was the oldest member of the Boston Flour and Grain Exchange.

Caleb was a member of the Free and Accepted Masons and the Order of Eastern Star of Woburn. He was an active member of the First Congregational Church of Woburn where he served as deacon for many years. He resided at 72 High Street, Ashburnham, Massachusetts, 1879, and moved to Auburn Street, Woburn, 1880.

340. GEORGE RICHARD[8] JAQUITH (George[7], Adford[6-5-4], Abraham[3-2-1]) was born at New Ipswich, New Hampshire, 25 July 1857, died at West Townsend, Massachusetts, 30 January 1941, and was buried in the West Yard, Ashby, Massachusetts. He married 1 April 1884 MARIA AUGUSTA W. PILLSBURY of Ashby, who was born 22 August 1865, died at Northampton, Massachusetts, 16 January 1956, and was buried in the West Yard, daughter of Charles W. and Lucy T. (Booth) Pillsbury.

George and Maria resided at Maple Farm, on the Massachusetts–New Hampshire state line between Ashby and New Ipswich. George was a schoolteacher. He went out west for a time, then returned to hold town offices at New Ipswich and to help his father on the farm. He had many years of lucrative farming and was a poultry fancier. He resided at New Ipswich from 1857 to 1930, then retired to West Townsend. He had had scarlet fever, followed by infantile paralysis, which affected one leg and foot.

George and his cousins Flora and Caleb grew up together and were closely associated as long as they lived. George kept careful records of genealogy and was the family authority. He wrote a booklet of Jaquith history which his granddaughter Gertrude Louise[10] (Jaquith) Hill loaned to help complete this. Eugene Jaquith also held many of George's records.

Children, all born at New Ipswich:

521. i. DOLLIE SIVONA[9], b. 19 Feb. 1886.

522. ii. Milo Warren, b. 9 May 1888.

341. Edward Mulberry[8] Beard (Benjamin[7], Isaac[6], Rebecca[5], Ebenezer[4], Abraham[3-2-1]) was born at Charlestown, Massachusetts, 20 December 1850 and died at Billerica, Massachusetts, 9 July 1917. He married at Trinity Methodist Church, Charlestown, 11 April 1889 Sarah Eliza Adams, who was born at Charlestown, the only and adopted daughter of Urial and Love (Brackett) Adams. Sarah was disinherited when she married Edward because he was "below their station in life." Urial Adams was a prominent builder of churches in the Boston area.

Edward was a linen buyer for Chandler and Company, a fine Boston department store. He sang and performed in many "entertainments" and belonged to several men's social clubs. As his father died when he was thirteen and his older brother George was in the Union Army, Edward helped support his mother, who ran a boarding house in Charlestown, and his younger sister Annie, who died at twenty-four of consumption.

Edward and Sarah moved to Melrose, Massachusetts, where they were the first family to have their home electrified. Edward inherited a beautiful old home in Billerica from his cousin, Esther Holden, daughter of Amanda Rebecca Jaquith (Beard)[7] Holden (Esther[6], Rebecca[5], Ebenezer[4], Abraham[3-2-1]). Edward suffered from asthma and spent several winters in the South, but he died in his beloved Billerica home, July 1917. The house was destroyed by fire, 1918.

Sarah and Edward were very gregarious and did a great deal of entertaining. After Edward's death, Sarah moved to Washington, D.C., and lived with her daughter Marion until her death, then bought a home in Florida, near Lawrence, and lived there for several years. She later returned to Melrose and lived with her son Welden, then moved to the Fitch home for the elderly, Melrose.

344. GEORGE A.[8] JAQUITH (Stephen[7], Daniel[6], Ebenezer[5-4], Abraham[3-2-1]) was born at Schuylerville, New York, 28 April 1860 and died at Ipswich, South Dakota, 1956, killed by a car-train accident. He married 1896 MARY ANN PICTON, who was born 1877 and died 1950, daughter of Tom and Jane (———) Picton.

George travelled all over the United States and Canada for three years before he was twenty-one. In 1883 he moved to South Dakota and filed a homestead in Edmonds County, about twenty-five miles west of Aberdeen. He and Mary Ann later moved to Ipswich, where Mary Ann's mother ran a hotel and her father was a shoemaker.

Mary was raised at Saint Clair, South Wales, and moved to South Dakota 1883, settling in the Welsh settlement twelve miles south of Ipswich and Powell, South Dakota. General Tom Picton of the English Army was given credit for defeating Napoleon Bonaparte at the Battle of Waterloo. There is an equestrian statue of General Picton in the park about half a block from Jane's birthplace in Wales.

348. WALTER WHITING[8] JAQUITH (Walter[7], Ebenezer[6-5-4], Abraham[3-2-1]) was born at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, 24 August 1858 and died at Laurel, Oregon, 1950 or 1951. He married 19 June 1883 CARRIE HUMPHREY, who died 20 May 1937. They resided at Scholl's Ferry and Newburg, Oregon.

The following information on Walter Whiting Jaquith is reproduced with permission (12 February 1980) from Margaret Putnam, Scholls Ferry Tales (Scholls, Ore., 1976):

In 1900 teachers' salaries were $39 a month for men and $32 for women. Sometimes the schools lasted only two or three months, depending on funds available. Funds were acquired by collecting money from interested persons (parents or patrons). If a teacher could not be found, school was not held. Drinking water was obtained from a well with a hand pump, or was carried to the school and poured into a crock with a spigot at the bottom. The classrooms were illuminated when needed by kerosene lamps. The students often came barefoot, although some did carry shoes to put on when they came into the building out of the mud (p. 23).

In 1893 W.W. Jaquith was a charter member and a trustee of a little white church erected in a grove of stately evergreens, one-half mile northeast of the junction of Scholls Ferry Road and Highway 219; the church was remodelled in 1931 and still stands today. The denomination of the church then was Soul Sleepers or Church of God. Today it is a community church and undenominational. W.W. Jaquith was one of the local people who preached at times (p. 35).

The trustees of the newly organized cemetery association were: William L. Skeels, Walter Whiting Jaquith, and E.E. Brooks. W.W. Jaquith served continuously as secretary-treasurer until May 30, 1926 (p. 39).

At a ceremony at the cemetery in 1935 Ford Grover paid tribute to Mr. Jaquith's foresight and plan for a reserve fund when the Scholls Women's Club planted a California redwood tree in honor of W.W. Jaquith. This early resident had been secretary-treasurer of the cemetery association for forty years. The tree was damaged by lightning in the fall of 1973 and efforts are being made to save it. . . . The ideas of W.W. Jaquith expressed in his writings of May 30, 1902 should be remembered as the cemetery history is reviewed:

"There is hardly anything that reflects the character of a community as does the condition of the neighborhood cemetery. If the fence is all broken and rotted down, the ground covered with brush and successive layers of weeds and grass with a general air of neglect and don't care about it, we rightly can conclude that there is something the matter with the business management and the moral sense of that community. 'Dead and Forgotten' is an epitaph which could be written of too many a county cemetery. The affairs of Mountainside Cemetery are at present on a business basis. If this is continued, if the funds are carefully invested and taken care of, if the members will see that competent, interested men only are placed on the board of trustees, who will carefully care for the funds, expend them wisely, provide against possible loss, then there will be funds on hand to perpetually keep in order and to beautify the piece of ground called Mountainside Cemetery where all too soon we shall rest with the loves ones laid here before. If this is done for 25-50 or 100 years or longer with the care and order with which the grounds are kept, the cemetery will be not only a living monument to the trustees in charge but will exercise no small influence on the moral of the community at large" (p. 40).

In 1883 W.W. Jaquith arrived in Portland by train from Milford, Kansas, with his new father-in-law. The two men walked to the Scholls area and bought land on the hills south of Scholls. Jaquith's wife and mother-in-law arrived shortly after (p. 7) (courtesy of Ellen Jaquith Russell).

A letter from Lucile (Barnes) Jaquith, Herbert's third wife, to Herbert Jaquith gives some genealogical information on her family:

Mr. Herbert Jaquith:

I received your request of my mother's name and will tell you about our family. My mother's maiden name was Carrie Schermerhorn. It is a very old Yankee name from New York State. There is a family crest and motto on record at Washington. My mother's uncle and aunt visited N.Y. last summer, Orange County, where my grandfather and all of his people were born. His mother's name was Polly Ann Simpson. Her father was a cousin of the father of Ulysses Simpson Grant, President of the U.S. My mother's mother's name was Forn-Crook, which is a corruption of the name Von Crook and one of the earliest families to settle in New Amsterdam or New York State. They leased their property where the Trinity Church and Astor Hotel stand now (for 90 years). And in that time the record (on sheepskin) was lost. My father's people—the Barnes's—are of the family of publishers of Philadelphia, Barries Readers, school books, etc. My grandmother Barnes was Scotch. Her name was Janet Patterson and was born in Ayrshire, Scotland, and is the only one that was not Yankee. We have a very clear and long family record and we are eligible to join the D.A.R., etc. Several of the family have joined such organizations.

408. CHARLES SUMNER[9] JAQUITH, later JACKSON (Amos[8], Joseph[7], Ebenezer[6-5], Abraham[4-3-2-1]) was born at Putney, Vermont, 3

November 1851 and died at Sunbury, Ohio, 28 August 1934. He married 8 October 1879 HANNAH RETTA RARICK, who was born at Harlem, Ohio, 14 November 1859, died at Cleveland, Ohio, 21 June 1932, and was buried with Charles at Westerville, Ohio.

Charles was in the British Navy shortly after the Civil War. Later he worked his way to Ohio and there changed his name to Jackson. His grandson Edwin's family has the compass he carried. Charles was an expert cabinetmaker and carpenter, and was able to make the spiral stairs which graced many of the beautiful homes he built in Ohio and Indiana. In 1878-1879 a tornado struck through central Ohio, causing much fallen timber. He, with others, worked to clear it up, and it was there that he met his future wife Hannah. Charles worked at his trade until he was seventy.

Malcolm Charles Forgrave leaves the following tribute to his grandfather:

It was my privilege to visit the grandparents more than did my brothers and sisters. His was a rough exterior, perhaps due to his Navy experience, but always surfacing were good attributes that someone had instilled. Never did he utter an unkind word to my devoted grandmother. He had his "thing" about perfect table manners and enforced compliance. His honesty and fairness were inherent—and always manifested. Hard as a marlin spike, but his affection had great depth.

I think of him often, too, because my mother reminds me that I am his "spitting image." Our older daughter is the recipient of these genes also. His discipline, affection and respect is exemplified in our children and grandchildren, too. I must hasten to add that my wife and mother were—and are—just as devoted as my grandmother was.

When my grandmother died he actually grieved himself to death.

455. MARSHALL TANEY[9] JAQUITH (Cyrus[8], Abel[7], Benjamin[6-5], Abraham[4-3-2-1]) was born at Cedar Falls, Iowa, 9 September 1853, died at Pueblo, Colorado, 9 June 1930, and was buried in Palisades Cemetery, Clifton, Colorado. He married (1) at the Congregational Church, Minnehaha County, Dakota Territory (probably Sioux Falls), 26 March 1881 (certificate says 18 June) by Reverend McLovey GEORGIA ANNA OAKS, who was born at Viola (Rochester), Minnesota, 7 March 1860 and died at Clifton, 15 May 1913. He married (2) at Grand Junction, Colorado, 20 February 1926 SARAH LOUISE (STOCKER) DARR, called SADA, who was born at Marengo, Iowa, 4 March 1860, died at Venus, Nebraska, 1 January 1942, and was buried in Greenwood Cemetery, Creighton, Nebraska.

Marshall led an aggressive and flamboyant life with widely diversified interests. At one time he had a general store in Minneapolis, where brooms were kept in a barrel. He started each day as he came into the store by jumping over the barrel of brooms. He had extremely strong toes and could pinch as hard with his toes as other people could with their fingers. His daughter Helen, at the age of seventy, related how she used to sit on his lap while he told stories about the days when he used to drive oxen to freight merchandise through the Black Hills. On one occasion he was pursued by hostile Indians, but out-ran them.

Later he was a travelling auditor for the Omaha Elevator Company, and when he moved from Hartford, South Dakota, to Clifton, Colorado, bought land, and planted a large acreage to orchard, he continued his auditing for several years until the orchards became productive. He left his wife, Georgiana, and his sister Alice to manage the orchards while he stayed in Omaha, visiting them thirty days once a year. He had a vitriolic temper and was abusive when aroused. His son Russell, in later years, showed another son, Gail, four holes in one of the walls of the house which were made when he threw a chair at his wife. She dodged the chair and the legs hit the wall. For all the turmoil, she was a placid and even-tempered woman, a community leader much respected and loved.

Once, when living on the ranch in Colorado, there was an intruder on the property who was seen by Marshall and told to halt. The intruder continued to run, so he fired at his legs. The man, at that instant, dropped into a hole in the irregular ground, and the bullet went through his heart, killing him instantly.

Another time Marshall employed an ex-convict on the ranch who was an expert silversmith. He persuaded him to engrave a silver, double-walled water pitcher with the name Jaquith. The pitcher is still in use today and has been restored by George Oakes Jaquith.

457. Abel W.[9] Foster (Clarissa[8], Abel[7], Benjamin[6-5], Abraham[4-3-2-1]) was born at Morristown, New York, 1852, died at Bowne Township, Michigan, 24 January 1929, aged seventy-six years, three months, seventeen days, and was buried in Bowne Center Cemetery. He married at Cedar Falls, Iowa, circa 1878 Ida Louise[9] Jaquith, who was born at Cedar Falls, 20 May 1859, died 18 April 1926, and was buried in Bowne Center Cemetery, daughter of Jefferson[8] (Abel[7], Benjamin[6-5], Abraham[4-3-2-1]) and Mary Jane (Knapp) Jaquith (see no. 167).

Abel had a fine farm of 160 acres on County Line Road, between Kent and Barry counties. He had the best horses, and the first thoroughbred Angus cattle in Bowne Township. He sang beautifully and was always asked to sing at the Oldtimer's picnics. Ida's sister, Lucy Mae, died when quite young, so Ida was the sole heiress to her parents' estate. She used her inheritance to purchase three farms for her younger sons. They were not good farmers, and lost all three of them.

In a tribute to Abel and Ida, their granddaughter Lucy Foster Huntington wrote:

My grandmother, Ida, was a very well educated person. She was a great reader and always used the best English. She had received her education in a private school in Iowa. One winter Ida's mother, Mary Jane Knapp Jaquith, came from Iowa because she wasn't well. She tried to return to her farm in Cedar Falls in the Spring but never reached home. Ida went to take care of her until she passed away that summer. Ida's three sons, Dudley, Ray, and George, attended the funeral. I, Lucy Foster Huntington, was about ten years old then. Ida spoke often of her sister Lucy May Jaquith who died when she was about twenty. As Ida had three sons she had to wait for a granddaughter to use her sister's name, Lucy. I, Lucy May Foster Huntington, received it.

My grandfather, Abel Foster, was a man of strong principles, a good family man and neighbor. He had time to help nieces and nephews when necessary. He also had the best horses in Bowne township. In case of sickness or getting to a train on time, you could depend on grandpa's horse to make the best time, and it was always available in time of need. Those days are all over, now.

JOHN MUNRO[9] JAQUITH (Alfred[8], Joseph[7], Benjamin[6-5], Abraham[4-3-2-1]) was born at 1114 Grape Street, Syracuse, New York, 1 July 1891, died at Perth Amboy, New Jersey, 24 June 1970, and was buried in the Butler plot, Bethel Methodist Church Cemetery, Tottenville, Staten Island, New York. He married (1) at Brooklyn, New York, 24 March 1915 by Reverend Frank David Torrey MABELL LEAH COOL, who was born at Frelinghuysen Township, New Jersey 13 December 1885, died at her home, 1046 Milton Avenue, Rahway, New Jersey, 28 December 1947, was cremated at Rosehill Cemetery, Linden, New Jersey and buried in Tranquility Cemetery, New Jersey, daughter of Edward Harris and Sarah Melissa (Kerr) Cool. He married (2) 11 November 1948 by Reverend B. H. Decker AVA AYR BUTLER of Ocean Grove, New Jersey, who died 1969 and was buried in Bethel Methodist Cemetery, daughter of Isaac Wilmer and Ella (Ayr) Butler.

John graduated from Boys' High School, Brooklyn and Amherst College, Amherst, Massachusetts, Cum Laude and Phi Beta Kappa, Class of 1913. After Amherst he was a theological student at Drew University, New Jersey, where he received a B.D. degree in 1916. He went on to Union Theological Seminary for a year, during which time he also took graduate courses at Columbia and New York University, 1916-1917. He was a quiet, industrious student, a well-prepared scholar, and a sincere Christian.

John served as a Methodist pastor throughout his lifetime. He was connected with several New Jersey churches for six years, then for fifteen years served in churches in southern New York State. From 1941 to 1956 he went back to New Jersey, especially Rahway and Plainfield, retiring in 1956. He was president of the Rotary Club in Rahway, a member of the Free and Accepted Masons, and secretary of Newark Conference of Retired Ministers. He was exempt from service in World War I in Morristown, New Jersey, but served with the Home Guards. He enjoyed gardening, chess, genealogy, philosophy, and poetry; politically he was a Democrat.

John's first wife, Mabell, was educated at Perkiomen, Pennsylvania, Seminary or Normal School. When she was a teacher in a Quaker school on the Johnsonburg to Allamuchy Road circa 1910 she boarded at the closest farm, paying twenty-five dollars a month. As a hobby she enjoyed painting with water colors and oils.

John's second wife, Ava, was a member and steward of Bethel Methodist Episcopal Church of Amboy Road and Bethel Avenue, Tottenville, 1926, and on the Religious Education Committee. She served as Sunday School Member Superintendent and Church School Directress. She taught school at South Amboy, New Jersey, until her retirement in 1965. John and Ava's last residence was 106 Patton Street, Tottenville.

LUCIA LAVINIA JAQUITH (no. 313)

Lucia Lavinia Jaquith was appointed Superintendent of Memorial Hospital of Worcester, Massachusetts, in 1892. She served as superintendent 34 years, during which time she saw the hospital grow from 15 to 215 beds, and the student nursing staff from 4 to 100. In her time the hospital emerged from primitive methods to one of the most modern and well-equipped institutions.

Miss Jaquith did not confine her interest to nursing, but extended her activity to other fields of humanitarian work. In 1913 she was appointed by Governor Foss to serve on the state commission to investigate white slave traffic. She served on the State Board of Registration of Nurses since its formation. During World War I she was chairman of the local committee on Red Cross Nursing Service, and for 1 year of that period was a member of the national committee.

Miss Jaquith was a member of the American Hospital Association, the New England Hospital Association, the American Nurses Association, the National Organization of Public Nurses, the National League of Nursing Education, the American Social Hygiene Association, and the Alumnae Association of the Worcester City Hospital Training School for Nurses. She was also an honorary member of the Memorial Hospital Nurses Alumnae Association. She was a member of the First Universalist Church.

680. DAVID HENRY[10] JAQUITH (Willard[9], Perry[8], Joel[7], Levi[6], Ebenezer[5], Abraham[4-3-2-1]) was born at Syracuse, New York, 18 April 1918 and died at San Diego, California, 18 February 1980. He married at Syracuse, 18 May 1940 RUTH ADDIE CADY, who was born at Syracuse, 5 September 1917, daughter of Dr. Darwin and Clarissa (Post) Cady of Syracuse.

David graduated from Princeton University, Princeton, New Jersey, and planned to teach at the college level. This proved to be less lucrative than he wanted, so he took a position in Chicago selling milk bottle caps. When his brother Kenneth died suddenly David was called from Chicago to take over the Vega Company, which makes airport lights, prefabricated fireplaces, Heatolators, and various industrial products. He was doing well in Chicago and was reluctant to move back to Syracuse, even temporarily, so he took a ninety-day leave of absence. He was never able to leave Vega, and he assumed the presidency, which he held for many years.

In 1962 David was studying at New York University for his doctoral degree. He later spent three days a month with Vega, but the rest of his time as an international business management consultant. He was elected Board Chairman of the Manufacturers Association of Syracuse. In January 1973 he was elected a director of Lee Enterprises, Incorporated.

David was Vice-President of the Board of Trustees of the Methodist Church's Central New York Conference. At one time he was candidate for governor of New York on the Conservative ticket, and he opposed Nelson Rockefeller. In 1963 he was elected to the Syracuse Board of Education and served for many years, until he became ineligible when he moved to a home outside the city limits. In 1973 he was appointed Chairman of the President's Association of the American Management Association.

Ruth accompanied David on some of his business trips, but always preferred to spend the summers at her home at Lake Otselic. She resides at 2200 South Ocean Lane, Apt. 1009, Fort Lauderdale, FL 33316, from 1 November to 15 May, and at 905 Kimry Moor, Fayetteville, NY 13066, the balance of the year.

688. GAIL BELMONT[10] JAQUITH (Marshall[9], Cyrus[8], Abel[7], Benjamin[6-5], Abraham[4-3-2-1]) was born at Hartford, Dakota Territory, 18 November 1882 and died 13 February 1944. He married at Caldwell, Idaho, 30 April 1911 as her second husband MYRTLE (BURCH) HENDERSON, who was born at Roscoe, Missouri, 1 September 1879, died at Nampa, Idaho, 11 April 1977, and was buried in Canyon Hill Cemetery, Caldwell. She was divorced from William W. Henderson 1906.

Gail was a kindly, quiet, hard-working individual, even from his early years. His brother, Claire, told the author that whenever there was some extra hard work to be done on the Colorado ranch, his father always assigned Gail to do it. After he completed his work in the public schools in Clifton, Colorado, he went to business college at Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Although he never went into business as such, this served him in good stead, for his own affairs were always kept in apple-pie order.

Gail returned to his father's fruit ranch for a few years, apparently learning a great deal about general farming, fruit, and mechanics, for when he had his own ranch in later years, at Idaho, he was outstanding as a rancher, as well as doing his own carpentry, mechanical work, and animal husbandry. He was a community leader, along with his able wife, Myrtle, who was an inspired and inspiring worker. It was Myrtle's original homestead which they farmed so successfully. She said it was in 1916 they drilled the first well on the homestead.

Myrtle was a milliner and dressmaker for the elite of Caldwell, and kept an income coming in while working to make the farm productive. She was a graduate of the Normal School at Nevada, Greene County, Missouri, and of Reister's Ladies Tailoring College at Saint Louis, Missouri, February 1907. At the time she married Gail she had eleven girls working for her in her millinery shop at Caldwell. She lived on the ranch property a certain number of days each month, as required by the Homestead Act, going back and forth to Caldwell twelve miles away, by buggy over completely unimproved roads.

After Gail and Myrtle had begun to get several acres in cultivation and some horses and livestock, a calamity struck them. They had been hauling water from Snake River in barrels, for a distance of about two miles. They drank of this water, as well as using it for other purposes. Both developed typhoid fever and nearly died. Eventually Mr. Jaquith's father heard of this and had them brought back to Clifton for convalescence. They were in Colorado for several months, and while they were gone all their farm equipment disappeared, as well as their horses and livestock. The neighbors told them that they had "run off". It meant a fresh start, but eventually they had farm property which was very much the envy of the community. They were able to put their three sons through college. The oldest son, Fred, chose to remain with the ranch for his career and became a successful horticulturalist. Frank, the second son, graduated from Washington State College in horticulture, but later gradually changed over to real estate transactions as well as being an active minister and evangelist. The youngest son, author George Oakes, is a doctor.

Children, born at Caldwell:

933. i. FREDERICK MARSHALL[11], b. 12 Sept. 1912.
934. ii. FRANK BURCH, b. 24 Mar. 1915.

He married at Clifton, Colorado, 15 June 1910 PEARL MILLER of Fairfield, Iowa.

When Claire was about fifteen years old he left home to learn the carpentry trade. After a couple of years he went back to school, attending Cutler Academy at Colorado Springs, Colorado, for one year. After an injury in football and other discouragements he quit and went to work for the United States Reclamation Service on the first dam ever built on the Colorado River, near Palisade, Colorado.

After he left there he married Pearl and farmed at Emmett, Idaho, for four years, raising nursery stock. They returned to Clifton, and Claire worked on the home place with his father for eleven years. During that time, Claire studied architectural drafting and allied subjects at night.

In 1925, after a health problem from lead poisoning, he left the ranch and was a carpenter in Caldwell, Idaho, San Diego, California, and Phoenix. At Phoenix he worked as foreman for a large cabinet shop, then started contracting for himself. In 1947 he opened the Jaquith Mill and Cabinet shop, which he operated until his retirement, 1966. He was an active member of the Free Methodist Church (contributed by his daughter Nadine, 1971).

She married at Bowne Township, 25 November 1896 ARTHUR J. PORRITT, who was born there, 14 September 1869, died there, 6 February 1959, and was buried in Bowne Center Cemetery, son of William Walt, born at Royal Oak, Michigan, and Rosalthie (Platte) Porritt.

Florence taught at the Harris Creek School. She received her training at Grand Rapids and lived with Mary Foster Cobb. Arthur was a staunch Republican and the politician of the family. He was either Bowne Township clerk, treasurer, or supervisor. He had an eighty-acre farm on Bergy Avenue, as well as forty acres of woods across the Coldwater River. This was the source of firewood. Later Victor bought the Centennial Farm of eighty acres, where Victor lived until his death. His grandfather, William Porritt, hewed it out of the woods. Situated on Nash Avenue, it is considered the best farm in Bowne Township.

Alice Slater noted to the author: "The Fosters and Sinclairs all had dark hair and brown eyes. The men were about five feet, ten inches tall. Florence had long black hair that she could sit on. She had a good disposition, but some of the family had quite sharp tongues. Uncle Abel Foster and Bert Sinclair had fine singing voices."

From 1959 to 1970 she was a secretary and administrative assistant in the mathematics department of Clark University, Worcester, Massachusetts. She resides at 75-3 Park Avenue, Worcester, MA 01605.

The following poem was written by Morton Comey Jaquith, 10 December 1933. It tells the story of what has happened to the many New England villages, towns, and cities which thrived in the industrial conditions of the nineteenth century only to be financially crippled by the post-World War I merger boom created by absentee ownership. Since the Jaquith family had its origins in New England, and most of those who remained in New England in the nineteenth century depended on the mills for their livelihood, the poem in itself reflects part of the family history. It also explains in part why so many members of the family left the communities of their birth (submitted by Wilbur Mason Jaquith, 1973).

A New England Mill Town, Its Rise and Fall 1850-1933
By Morton C. Jaquith

In the valley of the Nashua, three and eighty years ago,
When the woods were full of big game and living costs were low,
When oil lamps lighted houses, and the horse transported man,
The town of Clinton was founded; her history began.

Among her hills there settled men of vision and of skill
Who toiled with hand and brain in the office, shop and mill,
And soon the looms were turning, weaving cottons, wool and wires;
And the secrets of her dye rooms were taught by skillful dyers.

The joy of honest toiling kindled fires in every home,
As wreaths of smoke went curling to Wachusett's stately dome,
'Mid the hills were raised up churches, libraries, public schools,
To make leaders of her children in place of spineless tools.

And the name and fame of Clinton were spread across the land,
As the texture of the fabrics raised nation-wide demand,
In the White House were her carpets, her wire on western farms,
And her ginghams, oh her ginghams, were one of woman's charms.

But alas, alas for Clinton, the day of mergers came.
Control of her mills went westward, and with it went their fame.
For not content with sharing, their masters demanded all,
They left the husks to Clinton, steeped with wormwood and with gall.

The joy of honest toiling then ceased to light the home,
The fires burned low, the rooms were cold, her sons began to roam
Through streets once busy and bustling with faces tired and sad
And begged for work to feed their fires, but work could not be had.

The spirit brave that raised the town on Nashua's fertile plains,
And built her looms and made her cloths, falters not, nor wanes.
It still burns bright; in times of stress its flames are mounting higher,
And Clinton yet shall rise again on wings of living fire.

804. HAROLD CLARENCE[10] JAQUITH (Clarence[9], John[8], Cyrus[7], Ebenezer[6-5-4], Abraham[3-2-1]) was born at Nashua, New Hampshire, 25 May 1888 and died at West Hartford, Connecticut, 21 April 1943. He married at Topola, Yugoslavia (Serbia), 9 November 1925 MARY HARIN, who was born at Yalta, Russia, 25 September 1898, daughter of Nicholas Nicholaevich and Julia Alexandrovna (Babanine) Harin.

Doris E.[8] Jaquith (no. 210) knew Harold's family well, as Harold's sister Esther was a special friend and Dora's father, Walter[7] was the younger brother of Harold's great-grandfather, Cyrus[7]. In a letter to a cousin Dora says, "I have not seen Reverend Harold since he was fourteen or fifteen years old, in Nashua, New Hampshire. They later moved to Hartford and his mother took boarders to help him complete his studies at Trinity, the Episcopal college in Hartford where he is now Provost."

After graduating from Trinity Harold entered Columbia University, where he received his M.A. in journalism, 1914. In the same year he received his B.D. from the Union Theological Seminary. Another source states that from 1912 to 1917 he served as assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of New York

In 1917 Harold was named Assistant Secretary of the Near East Relief Association. He served on the staff of the American Mission to Poland and the American Mission to Negotiate Peace, 1919. He was made managing director of the Near East Relief Association at Constantinople and Athens and was overseas for nine years, 1920 to 1929. He had been general secretary since 1927 and was made a trustee in 1931. He was the Executive Officer and National Secretary for the Near East Foundation.

In 1933 Harold was president of the New York Kiwanis Club. He accepted the presidency of Illinois College at Jacksonville, 1933 to 1938, then resigned to serve as provost and Dean of Freshmen at Trinity College, Hartford. In 1936 he was elected chairman of the American Institute for Endowment, and chairman of the Illinois Federation of Colleges. He was much in demand as a speaker on the "Persistent Personality of Lincoln," as well as on international subjects. At the time of his death he was on leave from Trinity to work as an educational consultant for the State Office of Price Administration.

For his aid to Greek refugees at Smyrna, 1923, after the collapse of Greek military operations against Turkish forces in Asia Minor, he was made a Commander of the Order of King George I of Greece. He also held the Croix de Guerre of Greece, the Greek Red Cross Medal, and the Order of Hamediah of Turkey. He was a fellow of the Royal Geographical Society, the American Academy of Political Science and Social Science, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and a member of Phi Beta Kappa (Who's Who in America).

Harold's wife Mary was his secretary at the time of their marriage. She resided with her parents in Russia until they left the country during the Civil War, 1920. She was educated in Russia, then received her Master's from Columbia University. She became a United States citizen in 1928.

During World War II Mary taught Russian at college and high school levels. She joined the United Nations in 1946 when the interpretation section was still experimenting to find the best way to do the job. The job was a demanding, for applicants must know at least three of the five United Nations languages — English, French, Spanish, Chinese, and Russian — as well as their mother tongue. Mary translated into Russian from English and French. She was so essential to the United Nations that her retirement was postponed six times. Her office was shared by another interpreter and was on the seventeenth floor of the U.N. Secretariat Building. In 1966 she was sent to Brasilia on a United Nations Mission. She retired 1967 but went back into the early 1970s as a freelance interpreter. She had never missed a session of the United Nations until the thirty-second. After the close of the Twenty-sixth Assembly, 1971, she visited her son and daughter at Christmas, then went to Sapporo, Japan, to work for the Olympics. Mary said, "The pay for the job is not the only satisfaction. The experience of being present at important moments among important people is a privilege worth paying for. To have been a part, even in a small way, of so many great historical moments is a priceless bonus of my interpreter's career".

In 1975, Mary resided at 173 Hillside Avenue, Mount Vernon, New York.

849. FRANKLIN RYRIE[10] JAQUITH (Benjamin[9], William[8], Benjamin[7], James[6], Nathan[5], Benjamin[4], Abraham[3-2-1]) was born at Sioux Falls, South Dakota, 1 April 1920. He married at New York, 15 December 1953 JOYCE HELTER, who was born at Mountain Lake, Minnesota, 1 April 1931.

Frank graduated from Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois, 1947, following three years in the Air Force, 1942 to 1944. For sixteen years he worked for the Reliance Manufacturing Company, which occupied the sixtieth floor of the Empire State Building, New York. Franklin's B.S. degree was in accounting, so he started as a cost accountant then went into merchandising and specialized in the rather unusual area of handling multi-million dollar government contracts for military clothing. In 1959 he and Joyce moved to Illinois, where Frank managed a large Big Yank clothing warehouse for Reliance for five years. When this warehouse closed he left the firm and worked for Ampex as Traffic and Warehouse manager for two years. The next two years he was employed by the Follette Publishing Company, Chicago. As his home was in Addison, Illinois, the commute was twenty-three miles. This became too much, so he resigned and moved to Iowa to become a "gentleman farmer." His mother owns 640 acres of good farmland in a resort area with beautiful lakes. Here he worked for four years for McQuay, a maker of air-conditioning units and ice machines, as production and material manager, and handled many large government contracts. In 1979-1980 he retired and managed the Jaquith farming interests (the value of Iowa farm land has risen almost as much as oil or gold).

Frank is a past Commander of the American Legion and served two years as secretary and treasurer of the Isaac Walton League. He and Joyce resided at Columbia Heights, Brooklyn, New York, Addison, Illinois, and in 1980 at Box 8233, Spirit Lake, IA 51360.
